West Carroll Safety Day in Oak Grove

Air Med Care personnel made an impression when they landed their helicopter and spoke about EMTs' role and what to do in case of an accident on the farm at the 20th annual West Carroll Progressive Agriculture Safety Day. Amanda Corley (red dress) spoke about farm safety and talked about her son who was badly injured in a tractor accident.

A fully recovered Jacob Ross.

By Veronica Mosgrove

"His first word was 'tractor'," said Amanda Corley, the mother of Jacob Ross who was badly injured in a tractor accident in 2010 when he was 10-years old. Young Jacob grew up on the farm and "knew all the rules" as his mom explained, but what happened that day changed their lives.

Corley said Jacob was walking toward the tractor a farm employee was driving when he dropped his cell phone. When Jacob reached to grab the phone he dropped, the farm employee who was driving the tractor did not see him. The tractor ran over him and Jacob got caught in the blade.

"His pelvic bone was crushed, his arm was severely cut, his lung was punctured, diaphragm ruptured and his liver was lacerated. It was the most horrible thing to go through as a parent."

Today, Jacob Ross is going to be a junior in high school. He is thriving, healed and has full use of his injured arm. He's also working on the farm again.

"Farm safety is so important. It doesn't matter that Jacob's dad is a fifth generation farmer. You must pay attention. Something tragic can happen to any one of you if you do not pay attention," said Corley.

Several topics addressed at the 20th annual West Carroll Progressive Agriculture Safety Day® in Oak Grove May 13, 2016 included: farm safety, electrical safety, drug awareness, seatbelt safety, tractor and lawnmower safety, hand and finger safety, firearm safety, grain safety, first aid and ATV safety.

About 200 fifth graders rotated to different stations throughout the day.

Junior 4-H members Mikelynn Williams and Alex Nelson found this event invaluable.

"It's just about teaching our kids to be safe in any situation," said event organizer Tammie Stutts. For Stutts, her mission to teach safety to school aged children started when her children were young and growing up on the farm. "Safety has always been a priority. Bad things happen so quickly," said Stutts.

Over at the tractor safety demonstration, Cole Thibault who represented a local equipment dealer out of West Monroe said, "The number one way to get hurt is to be in a hurry. If one piece of clothing gets hung up, you can get stuck."

For Mike Traxler, he learned the hard way while working at a plant. "I was not following safety protocol and the equipment I was working with crushed my hand." Traxler lost his fingers on his left hand. "It changed my whole life – the way I ate, the way I got dressed. Everything got more difficult," said Traxler.

"My poppa had a lot of farm equipment. Some people get hurt and don't come back from it," said Nelson.

Williams added, "It just makes you more aware. You need to know your surroundings."

Louisiana Agriculture & Forestry Today

Hurricane season is here: Get a Game Plan now

It's that time of year again when Louisiana residents turn their attention toward the tropics. June 1 marked the start of the 2016 hurricane season.

Louisiana Agriculture and Forestry Commissioner Mike Strain, D.V.M., said, "Even though forecasters predict an average number of hurricanes this season, it's always best to be well prepared no matter how many storms are predicted," Strain said. "All it takes is one bad hurricane to cause hardship for livestock and pet owners."

Make sure livestock trailers are in good condition and are ready for an unexpected road trip. Check the tire pressure and the rubber for wear, test brake and running lights, and inspect the overall condition and functioning of the trailer.

Strain said pet and livestock owners should maintain vaccinations, proof of ownership and identification of their animals and bring these documents with them if they need to evacuate.

Check and plan early for a travel location before an evacuation is called. Pet owners may be able to leave their pets at a pre-arranged boarding kennel along their evacuation route.

Be prepared; make plans before an emergency occurs. If you are going to evacuate and take your pet with you, make sure you have a hotel reservation somewhere that allows pets, arrange for a relative living in an unthreatened area who will welcome you and your pet or make arrangements with a boarding facility in the area in which you plan to evacuate.

"Transport your pets in a pet carrier," Strain said. "Also, have at least three to four days worth of pet food and daily medications and make sure to bring plenty of water for your pets."

For additional information on preparing for emergencies, visit www.getagameplan.org.

The LSU AgCenter at www.lsuagcenter.com also has a number of resources to aid in emergency preparations.

USDA offers farm loan funding for underserved groups, beginning farmers (ALEXANDRIA, LA) – May 26, 2016 - USDA Louisiana Farm Service Agency (FSA) Executive Director, Craig A. McCain, reminds producers that FSA offers targeted farm ownership and farm operating loans to assist underserved applicants as well as beginning farmers and ranchers.

“Each year, a portion of FSA’s loan funds are set aside to lend to targeted underserved and beginning farmers and ranchers,” said McCain. “Farming and livestock production are capital intensive business ventures and FSA is committed to helping producers start, expand and maintain their agricultural operations.”

USDA defines underserved applicants as a group whose members have been subjected to racial, ethnic, or gender prejudice because of their identity as members of the group without regard to their individual qualities. For farm loan program purposes, targeted underserved groups are women, African Americans, American Indians and Alaskan Natives, Hispanics and Asians and Pacific Islanders.

Underserved or beginning farmers and ranchers who cannot obtain commercial credit from a bank can apply for either FSA direct loans or guaranteed loans. Direct loans are made to applicants by FSA. Guaranteed loans are made by lending institutions who arrange for FSA to guarantee the loan. FSA can guarantee up to 95 percent of the loss of principal and interest on a loan. The FSA guarantee allows lenders to make agricultural credit available to producers who do not meet the lender’s normal underwriting criteria.

“During fiscal year 2015, Louisiana FSA obligated over $46 million in loans to assist 448 targeted underserved and beginning producers,” said McCain.

The direct and guaranteed loan program provides for two types of loans: farm ownership loans and farm operating loans.

Farm ownership loan funds may be used to purchase or enlarge a farm or ranch, purchase easements or rights of way needed in the farm’s operation, build or improve buildings such as a dwelling or barn, promote soil and water conservation and development and pay closing costs.

Farm operating loan funds may be used to purchase livestock, poultry, farm equipment, fertilizer, and other materials necessary to operate a successful farm. Operating loan funds can also be used for family living expenses, refinancing debts under certain conditions, paying salaries for hired farm laborers, installing or improving water systems for home, livestock, or irrigation use and other similar improvements.

In addition to customary farm operating and ownership loans, FSA now offers Microloans through the direct loan program. The focus of Microloans is on the financing needs of small, beginning farmer, niche and non-traditional farm operations, such as truck farms, farms participating in direct marketing and sales such as farmers’ markets, CSA’s (Community Supported Agriculture), restaurants and grocery stores, or those using hydroponic, aquaponic, organic and vertical growing methods. Microloans are available for both ownership and operating finance needs. To learn more about microloans, visit www.fsa.usda.gov/microloans.

Repayment terms for direct operating loans depend on the collateral securing the loan and usually run from one to seven years. Financing for direct farm ownership loans cannot exceed 40 years. Interest rates for direct loans are set periodically according to the Government’s cost of borrowing. Guaranteed loan terms and interest rates are set by the lender.

To qualify as a beginning producer, the individual or entity must meet the eligibility requirements outlined for direct or guaranteed loans. Additionally, individuals and all entity members must have operated a farm for less than 10 years. Applicants must materially or substantially participate in the operation.

For farm ownership purposes, the applicant must not own a farm greater than 30 percent of the average size farm in the county at the time of application. All direct farm ownership applicants must have participated in the business operations of a farm for at least three years out of the last 10 years prior to the date the application is submitted. If the applicant is an entity, all members must be related by blood or marriage and all entity members must be eligible beginning farmers.

For more information on FSA’s farm loan programs and targeted underserved and beginning farmer guidelines, visit www.fsa.usda.gov/farmloans or contact your local FSA Office. To find your local FSA office, visit <http://offices.usda.gov>.

Colorful plants that can take the summer heat

By Dan Gill
LSU AgCenter
Horticulturist

It's not too late to add colorful bedding plants to your landscape, but it's important to choose plants that are able to thrive in the intense heat of a Louisiana summer. Summer bedding plants come in a variety of heights, textures and colors, and they are adapted to grow in everything from moist, shady areas to hot, dry, sunny locations.

You can create cool, elegant color schemes with pastels, or an explosion of bright, vibrant colors full of excitement with more vivid colors. Summer plants can be used in flower beds, mixed borders, containers and hanging baskets to provide the color you crave wherever you want it. Check out the following plants and many other delightful choices for summer color at your local nursery.

Angelonia (Angelonia angustifolia) is a relative newcomer to summer gardens. We didn't see it in the nurseries until the late 1990s. Since then, more colors and sizes have been developed, and you should find a nice selection at your local nursery. These are among the most reliable and heat-tolerant plants for sunny, well-drained locations. I especially recommend the Serena angelonias as well as Serenita Raspberry, which are Louisiana Super Plants selections.

Blue daze (Evolvulus glomeratus) is a low-growing, shrubby bedding plant that loves summer heat and sun. Neither insects nor diseases bother this plant, whose grayish foliage and clear, blue flowers add a cool note to the garden. The flowers tend to close up in the afternoon during the intense heat of midsummer, but the plants stay neat, attractive and free from pests from the time you plant them until the first freeze. Blue My Mind is a new, improved cultivar.

A versatile and reliable plant that does well in part shade to shade is the wishbone flower, Torenia fournieri. This annual plant provides a tremendous display of blue, purple, lavender, rose, pink or white flowers over an extended period. The Louisiana Super Plant selection Kauai series torenias are outstanding. They make ball-shaped plants under a foot tall and come in a variety of beautiful colors.

The Summer Wave and Catalina torenias are quite different. These torenias are vigorous, low-growing plants that create a ground cover of color. They have amazing stamina and will be blooming constantly all summer. They come in a variety of colors and are excellent choices for hanging baskets or draped over the sides of pots.

The common lantana or ham and eggs (Lantana camara) has been refined into a number of garden varieties that are among the best plants for summer color. Few plants combine constant flowering, heat tolerance and ease of care as well as lantana does. Lantanas are irresistible to butterflies and are an important plant to include in flower gardens planted with these delightful insects in mind. The Bandana lantanas are Louisiana Super Plant selections that are especially compact and floriferous.

Baby's breath euphorbia (Euphorbia hypericifolia) is a relatively new plant that serves the role in flower beds and containers that baby's breath does in flower arrangements. This plant is airy and delicate in appearance but is extremely heat- and drought-tolerant. It produces small white floral bracts in huge numbers through summer. It looks great combined with almost anything.

If I could only have a few of the many heat-tolerant bedding plants, pentas (Pentas lanceolata) would be among them. And the Butterfly pentas, a Louisiana Super Plants selection, is a particularly good series to plant. Pentas stay in constant bloom all summer and into fall, with flowers in shades of white, pink, rose, lavender and red. They are absolutely care free other than trimming occasionally, and they are simply irresistible to butterflies.

The narrow-leaf zinnia (Zinnia angustifolia) is usually a brilliant, in-your-face orange. But it also comes in yellow and creamy white and loves hot, sunny areas. It is low-growing, is constantly covered with flowers and looks particularly nice cascading over the edge of raised planters. Also look for the excellent Profusion zinnias and Zahara zinnias in many colors. They are especially disease resistant.

Along with torenias, begonias are also a great choice for shade. BabyWing begonia is a Louisiana Super Plant selection that is vigorous and blooms prolifically. Coleus, caladium and impatiens are additional plants that provide abundant color in partly shaded conditions.

Don't let the heat of July and August do your garden in. Choose your plants carefully, and watch your garden thrive despite the weather.

Look for these great heat-tolerant plants for colorful summer flower beds at your local nursery or garden center.

Taller-growing (over 2 feet tall) – butterfly weed, rudbeckia, angelonia, shrimp plant, cleome, Fireworks gomphrena, melampodium, four o'clock, cosmos, hardy hibiscus (mallow), sunflower, salvias, cigar flower, Mexican sunflower (tithonia).
