Louisiana, Cuba officials ink trade MOUs

Commissioner Mike Strain, D.V.M., signing the agriculture MOU with Frank Castaneda Santalla of the Ministry of Agriculture of Cuba. Governor Edwards also signed a MOU as well as Paul Aucoin who is the executive director of the Port of South Louisiana.

By Veronica Mosgrove

This past October, Louisiana Department of Agriculture and Forestry Commissioner Mike Strain, D.V.M., and Governor John Bel Edwards traveled to Cuba to meet with officials on trade related issues. Port, transportation and economic development officials also joined the delegation.

“It’s about relationships,” said Strain. “Of course, the ports are the method by which we will send our goods.”

Strain, the governor and other officials signed Memoranda of Understandings (MOUs) to set parameters for these business relationships.

“Cuba will import $175 million in rice next year. We want to have the lion’s share. If we can normalize trade, we will be a major player,” Strain added.

Don Pierson, Secretary of Louisiana Economic Development (LED) said, “There are specific opportunities Louisiana can have with Cuba and agricultural products dominate what Louisiana will export to the island nation.” All agree that public opinion is changing regarding trade with Cuba. We want to work to remove restrictions. I believe we have a common goal. Transportation is vital to trade.”

Education and research are other areas where Cuba and Louisiana can work together. “The U.S. model is one of sustainability,” said Strain.

A state of the art and expanding port at Mariel is prime for receiving Louisiana goods. “The Port of Havana is limited because of a tunnel that blocks larger ships which cannot utilize the port. Mariel is designed to handle the new Panamax vessels. That will leave Havana to concentrate on cruise ships and water parks for tourists,” said Port of Mariel Director Charles Baker. Baker sees the Port of New Orleans as a hub and gateway port to Mariel.

Some of the major products that Louisiana would ship are poultry, and rice, both major staples in the Cuban diet, to Mariel. In addition, the export of livestock feed grains and lumber offer great opportunities for Louisiana farmers and foresters. In recent weeks, a major obstacle to shipping has been lifted. The U.S. would not allow a ship to return to the states for six months after it had docked at a Cuban port, but a recent executive order has removed that restriction and ships are now free to return unimpeded.

The delegation visited the Agrarian University of Havana, where educators are working towards sustainable solutions for challenges involving livestock and other agricultural related issues dominated the conversation. Challenges including flooding, drought and disease are common in both Louisiana and Cuba. The exchange of information could be beneficial to both countries from water conservation to parasitic disease.

Jim Thibaut, senior consultant for FSE Energy, a company that designs and builds power plants field by burning biomass which is a renewable fuel, said, “I think Louisiana is going to benefit tremendously. The forward vision is to create jobs. It takes a long time to build trust with Latin countries, but these people are accepting.”

Over at a large cooperative in La Cosecha de la Papa, approximately 200 farmers work the land. Twenty percent of those farmers are women. Typically, they work with 30 year old machinery. “We need more technology and more energy to keep chicken cool. We get some fertilizers and herbicides and pesticides, but they are limited on how much they can get,” said Omar Barroso Miranda, president of the co-op.

Elton Kennedy of Mer Rouge and owner of three rice mills said, “We have the best advantage of anybody. People are hungry for our products. They would prefer our rice over Vietnamese rice.”

Man accused in race horse thefts

Baton Rouge, La. (October 31, 2016) – A Bossier Parish man is accused of theft of livestock for stealing at least three race horses, bank fraud in Bossier and issuing worthless checks in Bienville parish.

Thirty-four year old Jonas Gibson, whose last known address was 700 block of Old Plain Dealing Road, Benton, La., was arrested Tuesday, October 25, 2016 at an apartment complex on Wemple Road in Bossier City, La.

Authorities say information gathered on another unrelated horse case led to Gibson being charged with forgery in regard to a set of Jockey Club horse registration papers and the theft and sale of a horse last April. The horse was reportedly stolen from Harrah's Louisiana Downs located at 8000 East Texas Street, Bossier City, La. That particular horse was recovered at Delta Downs in Vinton, La. by the Louisiana State Police Gaming Unit.

Louisiana Department of Agriculture and Forestry Commissioner Mike Strain, D.V.M., said, "Seven horses in Gibson's possession are currently being boarded at an equine rescue facility. Brand Inspectors are investigating ownership and identifiers of the horses to determine if they could be stolen and to return them to their rightful owners. Some owners have already been contacted and charges are pending as more information and evidence is gathered."

Bossier City Police, the Louisiana State Police, and the Louisiana Livestock Brand Commission worked together on this investigation.

The value of all horses involved is an estimated $100,000.

Anyone with information regarding this case, please call the Bossier City Police at (318) 741-8611, the local Crime Stoppers line at (318) 424-4100, or the La. Dept. of Agriculture and Forestry Livestock Crime Stoppers line at (800) 558-9741.

***UPDATE***

All horses have now been recovered thanks to our counterparts in Texas and Mississippi and will be returned to their rightful owner.

Louisiana sugarcane harvest off to good start

By Richard Bogren, Schultz, Bruce
LSU AgCenter

The 2016 sugarcane harvest is off to a great start, said LSU AgCenter sugarcane specialist Kenneth Gravois.

"Harvest is underway, and weather is good," Gravois said. "Dry weather this fall has been a real plus."

The final weeks of the 2015 harvest were wet, which left rough spots in the fields, and rains last spring limited cultivation. Although the soil conditions could be better, this year's harvest is going well.

"Cane is coming in with very little mud," Gravois said. "And the crop is erect, which makes harvest easier."

About 20 percent of the harvest is complete, and all mills are running. Cane quality is good, and the crop is clean with high sugar levels.

"Tonnage is a little lower than expectations, but the crop has high sugar, and erect cane in dry fields means lower-cost harvesting," Gravois said.

Farmer Donny Vallot, of Abbeville, said the tonnage is down on the Vallot family farm. What should be 27-30 tons of cane per acre is down to roughly 23 tons, he said, and he suspects the West Indian cane fly is a reason for the decrease.

"In 2010, I had some flies around August, but this year they flies came out so early, maybe in May," Vallot said.

On the positive side, he said the dry weather has resulted in ideal harvest conditions, and low diesel prices have helped decrease production costs.

Another farmer, Jim Domingues, of Erath, said the tonnage on his family farm is also down by about 10 percent, and he, too, suspects the flies had an effect. But he said the wet spring and summer may have contributed to the decrease in areas of heavy clay soil that don't drain well.

He said his planting this year took six weeks, twice as long as usual.

Beauregard Parish logger arrested on timber theft charges

Baton Rouge, La. (Nov. 1, 2016) – Louisiana Department of Agriculture and Forestry (LDAF) Commissioner Mike Strain, D.V.M., said LDAF enforcement agents arrested a Merryville, La. logger on charges of timber theft by fraud.

Donald Foster, 62, Merryville, La. was arrested on Oct. 28 when he turned himself in to the Beauregard Parish Sheriff's office on an arrest warrant obtained by LDAF enforcement agents.

LDAF enforcement agents received a complaint from a landowner this Aug. regarding Foster. An investigation revealed that Foster provided the landowner with false scale tickets and pocketed a portion of the actual proceeds and profit from the sale of timber. The value of the timber owed to the landowner was $4,000.

Agents also said Foster allegedly misrepresented himself as a legal corporation organized under Louisiana state law. Then, agents said, he deceived the landowner into entering into a contract at a grossly undervalued price which resulted in a loss of over $17,000.

"Timber is a long-term investment. It is very important that landowners use caution and do their homework before contracting with someone to do any kind of work with their timber," Strain said. "Get references, ask friends, neighbors and call our office to be sure you are dealing with a reputable outfit."

Strain advises anyone who suspects timber theft to contact the Office of Forestry at 225-925-4500.
