First South Farm Credit starts fund to aid farmers impacted by 2016 flood

“Get it Growing” in Louisiana 2017 lawn and garden calendar by the LSU AgCenter is available now.

The calendar offers monthly tips for the seasoned or novice gardener as well as beautiful photos of plants, flowers and gardens from photographers across Louisiana.

Monthly gardening tips and a special feature on environmentally friendly landscaping from LSU AgCenter horticulturist Dan Gill, who is known across the region for his expertise on Louisiana gardening. The calendar features alerts gardeners about when to divide irises and plant strawberries as well as giving other helpful information for their gardening projects.

The full-color, 32-page, 9-inch-by-13.25-inch calendar features photos of beautiful flowers, vegetables and plants.

The calendar sells for $11.95 and is available for online orders at www.lsuagcenter.com/GetItGrowingCalendar. Phone orders can be placed by calling 225-578-4646.

Baton Rouge, La. (Nov. 3, 2016) - Agriculture and Forestry Commissioner Mike Strain, D.V.M., accepted a $25,000 donation today from First South Farm Credit representatives which will be placed into a fund to benefit farmers who were impacted by the 2016 flood events.

First South Louisiana Division President David Wilson, First South Board Chairman Gaston Lanaux and AgFirst and First South Farm Credit board member Jimmy Norsworthy presented the donation at a ceremony held at Strain's office in Baton Rouge.

“Helping our fellow man – this is what the agricultural community is about,” Strain said. “We are fortunate to have great organizations like First South Farm Credit who are committed to propping up our farmers.

“Many farmers don't have crop insurance or are underinsured. This fund will be used to help our uninsured or underinsured farmers purchase crop insurance at a level that will actually help them cash flow in the event of a significant crop loss,” Strain said.

“First South's business is agriculture. Risk is a factor in every agricultural enterprise. Our producers are constantly evaluating their level of risk and seeking to insulate themselves from it,” Wilson said. “Flood events like the ones our producers encountered this year, show us just how difficult it is for them to protect against all forms of risk. Crop insurance is an underutilized tool in this regard. Our hope is that this new support program will create a heightened awareness about the value of crop insurance for risk protection.”

Lanaux said, “The board voted to help out flood victims and we wanted our donation to go agriculture so we reached out to Commissioner Strain.”

“This was an opportunity for us to give back to the community we serve,” Norsworthy said.

The Louisiana Agricultural Finance Authority will manage the program which is currently being developed.

“We are in the process of seeking additional donations to help build the program,” Strain said. “With that said, I challenge other private-sector entities to consider similar donations.”

USDA declares additional parishes as disaster areas

Baton Rouge, La. (Nov. 16, 2016) – The U.S. Department of Agriculture’s (USDA) Farm Service Agency (FSA) recently added Bossier, Caddo and Concordia parishes to the list of parishes already designated as primary natural disaster areas due to losses caused by severe storms and flooding that occurred from Aug. 11-31, 2016.

Farmers and ranchers in primary natural disaster areas are eligible for low-interest emergency (EM) loans from USDA’s FSA, provided eligibility requirements are met.

Farmers in eligible areas have eight months from the date of the declaration to apply for loans to help cover part of their actual losses.

FSA will consider each loan application on its own merits, taking into account the extent of losses, security available and repayment ability.

FSA has a variety of programs, in addition to the EM loan program, to help eligible farmers recover.

Farmers and ranchers in the following parishes also qualify for natural disaster assistance because they are contiguous. The following contiguous parishes are: Avoyelles, Bienville, Catahoula, Desoto, Pointe Coupee, Red River, Tensas, Webster and West Feliciana.

Contiguous counties were also declared in Ark., Miss. and Texas.

Local FSA offices can provide affected farmers and ranchers with additional information or visit <http://disaster.fsa.usda.gov>

Ag Expo set for Jan. 13, 14 in West Monroe

Applications are now being accepted for exhibit space in AG Expo 2017, scheduled for January 13 & 14, 2017, at the Ike Hamilton Expo Center in West Monroe, La. Each year, 10,000 to 12,000 attend the event from throughout Louisiana and adjacent regions of Arkansas, Mississippi and Texas. Exhibitors come from all over the United States.

The show will feature products and educational seminars to interest the large farmer and the backyard gardener. Whether you want to see the animals, learn about a new product or just enjoy the fun, it's an educational and fun event for the entire family.

Ag Expo 2017 will feature a return of the popular horse exhibition with more breeds and more demonstrations of horsemanship, the newest products and services for agriculture producers and related businesses, educational displays and programs for the public, a Jr. Livestock show featuring more than 400 animals, stock dog trials (featuring border collies), and educational seminars for specific interests.

Ag Expo is sponsored each year by the North Louisiana Agri-Business Council, with extensive cooperation from LSU AgCenter, LA Tech University, LA Cattlemen's Association and Monsanto. Additional information, including exhibitor applications and event schedules, can be found at www.agexpo.org or call 318.355.2495.

Commissioner Strain talks trade policy at White House

Louisiana Agriculture and Forestry Commissioner Mike Strain, D.V.M., who also serves as the 2016 National Association of State Departments of Agriculture (NASDA) president, participated in a roundtable meeting to discuss the importance of international trade for U.S. agriculture and rural America at the White House on Nov. 15.

Strain was joined by U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Tom Vilsack, U.S. Trade Representative Michael Froman, Deputy U.S. Trade Representative and Chief Agricultural Negotiator Darci Vetter and top state agricultural leaders.

"Having a seat at the table for these important agricultural trade policy discussions is an honor and a great opportunity not only for Louisiana's agricultural industry but also the American agricultural industry as a whole," Strain said. "I look forward to working with our top agriculture leadership to grow American agriculture into the future."

Strain said multi-lateral trade agreements, such as the Trans-Pacific Partnership, are critical to secure new market access for U.S. products and eliminate trade barriers.

"We also look forward to working with the incoming administration to determine a path forward on trade policies in order to enact agreements that ensure U.S. producers' leadership and competitiveness in the global economy."

Annual LDAF wildland firefighter training held in Oct.

LDAF fire crews learn how to handle an incident within an incident for instance a firefighter becomes seriously injured while responding to a wildfire.

The Louisiana Department of Agriculture and Forestry (LDAF) held its annual firefighter training at the Woodworth Office on Oct. 25 and 26. The two-day workshop covered four topics including: First Aid training, Incident within an Incident; ATV/UTV Safety; Vehicle and Dozer Maintenance.

LDAF Fire Branch Chief Don Smith said holding these firefighter training workshops are important for the safety of our wildland firefighters. "Safety is our number one priority. We have to constantly work to improve safety procedures. The minute we get complacent responding to a wildfire is when accidents happen."

In the First Aid session, participants learned about the signs and symptoms of heat-related illnesses, treating certain insect stings as well as what to do if an individual has an allergic reaction. The importance of vehicle and dozer maintenance was also highlighted.

Agritourism business requires risk management

LSU AgCenter Report

Starting an agritourism business can be a profitable enterprise, but it also carries liability risks that can be managed

That was the message at the LSU AgCenter agritourism workshop held on Nov. 8 at the AgCenter H. Rouse Caffey Rice Research Station.

Another workshop will be held at 9 a.m. on Nov. 10 at the LSU AgCenter Red River Research Station at 262 Research Station Drive, Bossier City.

Louisiana law limits liability exposure for farmland owners, said René Simon, director of marketing and agricultural economic development with the Louisiana Department of Agriculture and Forestry.

Farmers are facing low commodity prices, and agritourism is a way to make extra money. "Our farmers need to make every dollar they can," Simon said.

Louisiana had 361 agritourism businesses in 2012, up by 191 from 2007, said LSU AgCenter agritourism coordinator Dora Ann Hatch. The average sales jumped from $2,500 in 2007 to roughly $9,000 in 2012, she said.

Agritourism includes hunting and fishing on agricultural land as well as such attractions as a pumpkin patch, a corn maze and a fruit orchard.

"This is a great place for agritourism," Hatch said.

"Agritourism operators need to assess financial and legal risk as well as production, marketing and human risk," said Maria Bampasidou, assistant professor in the LSU AgCenter Department of Agricultural Economics and Agribusiness. "Identifying risk and learning how to manage it properly can differentiate a successful agribusiness operation."

Hatch gave details on becoming certified in Louisiana as an agritourism business. Randall Whitehead, field underwriting manager with Louisiana Farm Bureau Insurance, explained how landowners can protect themselves with the proper insurance coverage.

An example detailed at the workshop is the annual Yellow Rails and Rice Festival held in Jefferson Davis Parish in the Thornwell community. Birdwatchers attend the festival for the chance to see the elusive yellow rail, a small bird that hides in rice fields.

This year's festival, which was held last week, drew birders from 27 states, Australia and two Canadian provinces said farmer Kevin Berken, an organizer of the festival.

He said he enjoys the interactions with the birdwatchers who ride on his combine during rice harvest.

"It's a great opportunity to tell them about the Louisiana rice industry and educate them about the environmental benefits of rice and wildlife habitat," Berken said.

Attorney Rusty Rumley with the National Agricultural Law Center said corporations can be formed to protect agritourism business owners, but he cautioned against using an internet legal service to establish a corporation in Louisiana because of the complexity of the state's civil code. "I would be terrified to use that in Louisiana," Rumley said.

Separate insurance policies are needed for an agritourism venture and a general farm operation, he said.

The most dangerous agritourism business is a petting zoo because it exposes children to E. coli bacteria, but liability insurance is available for those attractions Rumley said. At least one death a year in the U.S. is attributed to petting zoos, he said.

This workshop series is funded through a grant from U.S. Department of Agriculture-National Institute of Food and Agriculture via the Southern Risk Management Education Center. The second part of the workshop, scheduled for the spring of 2017.
