Construction complete on second mobile pet shelter

Unit Made Possible through Banfield Foundation Disaster Relief Grant

The Louisiana Department of Agriculture and Forestry (LDAF) is now more equipped to assist with pet sheltering during emergencies. Commissioner Mike Strain, D.V.M., unveiled a second mobile pet shelter in December.

“The mobile disaster pet trailers were born out of past experiences and they will serve us well into the future. Our mobile pet trailers are fully equipped and ready to deploy. These units allow us to respond immediately to the needs of citizens rescued or evacuated with their pets,” said John Walther, assistant commissioner of animal health and the department’s emergency manager.

This additional pet shelter was made possible through a $72,100 grant from the Banfield Foundation. The Banfield Foundation is the charitable arm of Banfield Pet Hospital, which recently launched a disaster relief grant program to help ensure pets impacted by disasters receive much-needed care.

LDAF Commissioner Mike Strain, D.V.M., said, “The Banfield Foundation’s generous donation allows Louisiana another vehicle to co-locate people and their pets during evacuations.” Strain added, “When people are in harm’s way, it gives them a sense of comfort knowing their household pets are safe and nearby once an evacuation takes place.” In the past, victims have refused assistance unless their pets were accommodated.

“This year was no stranger to disasters—extreme flooding, hurricanes and wildfires destroyed communities, homes and lives. We saw first-hand the devastating impact that disasters have on people and their beloved pets and we understand the deep connection between pets and their owners,” said Kim Van Syoc, Executive Director of the Banfield Foundation. “By partnering with the Louisiana Department of Agriculture and Forestry, we can help ensure pets will be protected in the future and pet owners will have peace of mind knowing their pets will make it home safely.”

Similar to the first LDAF mobile pet shelter that rolled out during the 2015 hurricane season, this second unit is a 48-foot transport truck equipped with up to 55 metal cages, feed, water bowls and a wash down system. It has an air ventilation system to provide proper air circulation and temperature for the pets.

In all, the LDAF can accommodate up to 3,000 pets at established mega pet shelters. The mobile pet shelter is primarily used when no-notice events, such as the August 2016 flood, occur where pet sheltering facilities are not available. It can also be used in search and rescue missions and will be available, upon request, to other states during a disaster.

The LDAF is designated by the Louisiana Homeland Security and Emergency Assistance and Disaster Act to evacuate, transport and shelter household pets during declared emergencies.

About the Banfield Foundation

At the core of the Banfield Foundation, a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization, is the belief that all pets deserve access to veterinary care. In support of this belief, the foundation funds programs that enable veterinary care, elevate the power of the human-animal bond, provide disaster relief for pets, and advance the science of veterinary medicine through fostering innovation and education. It also leverages the expertise and passion of Banfield Pet Hospital associates to care for pets in need. At the Banfield Foundation, we are committed to making a better world for pets because they make a better world for us. Louisiana Agriculture & Forestry Today

Man Arrested for Alleged Timber Theft

Baton Rouge, LA (December 27, 2017) – A Caldwell Parish logger is accused of stealing timber following an investigation by Louisiana Department of Agriculture and Forestry (LDAF) enforcement agents.

Forty-one year old Charles Mason Adkins of Grayson, La. was arrested Friday, December 22, 2017, for theft of timber. LDAF enforcement agents said Adkins failed to pay for timber valued at $18,222.54.

Adkins was booked into the Caldwell Parish Correctional facility with bond set at $10,000.

Enforcement agents said that during the months of January and February of 2017, Adkins cut and hauled 17 loads of merchantable timber but did not pay the landowner for all the loads of timber hauled off the property.

“Timber is one of the largest industries in the state. Incidents of theft can often go undetected. Landowners must be vigilant in knowing with whom they are conducting business.

“We encourage anyone who is aware of theft or fraud to please contact our Office of Forestry at 225-925-4500,” said LDAF Commissioner Mike Strain, D.V.M.

Adkins could face up to ten years in prison and/or up to $10,000 in fines if convicted.

LSU AgCenter seeking entries for 2019 Get It Growing Calendar

The LSU AgCenter has issued a call to professional and amateur nature photographers in Louisiana to submit their best photos of Louisiana flowers, plants, lawns and gardens for consideration in the 2019 Get It Growing Calendar.

“We are seeking color photos from Louisiana photographers to be included in the calendar, which serves as an educational resource for gardeners as well as a showcase for beautiful plants, gardens and lawns,” said project coordinator Elma Sue McCallum. “From the submissions received, approximately 40 photographs will be chosen to be included in the 2019 calendar.”

The popular calendar features a dozen photos as full-page, full-color images for each month along with another on the cover. In addition, several others will be used throughout the calendar, which includes monthly garden tips, how-to guides, the newest Louisiana Super Plants and other information based on Louisiana climate zones.

The photographer’s name will be included with each printed photograph. Those selected for the monthly pages will receive five copies of the published calendar, and other contributing photographers will each receive two copies, McCallum said.

Submissions must be high-resolution digital images on CD with the photographer’s name, address, telephone number and email address attached, McCallum said. All images must be the original work of the photographer submitting the image. Submission guidelines can be found on the Call for Entries form online. Go to www.LSUAgCenter.com/GetItGrowingCalendar and scroll down for entry information.

The deadline for submissions for the 2019 calendar is February 28, 2018. Entries must be mailed — emailed submissions will not be accepted — to Elma Sue McCallum, LSU AgCenter, 135 Knapp Hall, Baton Rouge, LA 70803. CDs will not be returned. Photographers are asked to limit their submissions to 25 images.

The 2018 calendar is on sale now. It’s available online at www.lsuagecenter.com/online-store as well as in nurseries and garden centers throughout the state.

LDAF launches new Horticulture app for mobile devices

With the Louisiana Department of Agriculture and Forestry's (LDAF) new mobile horticulture application, it's now easier than ever to verify individuals claiming to be a landscaping or horticulture professional, Agriculture and Forestry Commissioner Mike Strain, D.V.M., said.

The new mobile app is available for both Apple and Android users. Within the app, users can verify a horticulture license, permit of a business or file a complaint.

"We wanted to give homeowners a convenient tool to quickly confirm an individual holds a current horticulture license as well as file a complaint," Strain said. "Not only are licenses required by law, properly licensed individuals have the training necessary to perform the work."

Licenses must pass a written exam administered by LDAF, demonstrating proficiency in their profession. They also must possess proper insurance if mandated by law and some licensed professions require participation in periodic refresher training through continuing education.

When is a license required? LDAF Horticulture and Quarantine Programs Director Ansel Rankins said routine grass mowing and edging do not require licensed individuals. "However, work such as plant bed preparation, bedding plant installation, landscape design, lawn irrigation system installation, tree trimming and fertilizer application all must be conducted by someone licensed through LDAF."

The app, called LDAF Business Search, may be downloaded for free at the iTunes and Google Play stores.

For those without access to a mobile device, horticulture licensure verification will still be available on the LDAF website at www.ldaf.state.la.us or by calling the Horticulture and Quarantine Programs division at 225-952-8100.

Get your "Get It Growing" in 2018 with AgCenter lawn and garden calendar

Louisiana gardeners in need of motivation to get in the dirt and "get it growing" only need to look to their calendars.

The just-published 2018 Get It Growing Lawn and Garden Calendar provides both knowledge and inspiration for gardening with tips for the experienced or novice gardener along with stunning photos of plants, flowers and gardens from photographers across Louisiana.

In addition to monthly gardening tips, the calendar features a how-to section on building raised beds for vegetable gardening with advice from LSU AgCenter horticulturist Dan Gill, a widely respected regional gardening expert. The calendar includes helpful information for projects, including when to plant tulips and tomatoes and to look for Louisiana Super Plants, such as the Little Gem Southern magnolia and the Limelight hydrangeas.

Published since 2005, many Louisiana gardeners eagerly anticipate the calendar's new edition each year, said Elma Sue McCallum of LSU AgCenter Communications, who serves as the calendar's coordinator.

"Louisianans have come to rely on the LSU AgCenter for research-based knowledge on a number of topics that affect their lives every day," McCallum said. "Gardening is one of our most sought-after areas, and the Get It Growing calendar remains a popular gardening resource."

Besides the monthly gardening tips for 2018 and the feature on raised beds, the full-color, 32-page, 9-inch-by-13.25-inch calendar includes an illustrated step-by-step guide to solarizing garden beds to reduce fungus, nematode and weed problems. The calendar provides a list of AgCenter lawn and garden publications along with information on the LSU AgCenter's Master Gardener program and the AgCenter Plant Disease Diagnostic Clinic and Soil Testing and Plant Analysis labs.

Photographs for the calendar are chosen each year through a public call for entries in the fall. The 2018 calendar winners include Ann Anderson, New Orleans; Glenda Balliviero, Lafayette; Norman Balliviero, Lafayette; Theresa Beaubouef, Independence; Linda Benedict, Baton Rouge; Skylar Henry, Welsh; Debra Jones, Walker; Don Meaux, Franklin; Margaret Melancon, New Iberia; Nadine Melancon, Lafayette; Conchita Richey, Gonzales; Charlotte Schafer, Ponchatoula; Rhoda Stevenson, Campiti; and Glenn Stokes, New Iberia.

The Get It Growing calendar sells for $11.95 and is available for online orders at www.lsuagcenter.com/GetItGrowingCalendar. Phone orders can be placed by calling 225-578-2263. Sample photos and more information are available on the website.

Created as part of the AgCenter's Get It Growing educational campaign for home lawns and gardens, the calendar is sold at many nurseries and garden centers across Louisiana.
