Agriculture Hall of Distinction honors 2018 inductees First woman inducted

Described as “titans of agriculture,” two people, including the first woman, were recently inducted into the Louisiana

Agriculture Hall of Distinction in Baton Rouge. The recipients of this distinct honor were Margie Jenkins of Amite, La., and the late Pierre “Pete” Lanaux of Edgard, La.

For Jenkins, her career spanned eight decades. She has spent 60 years in the landscape and nursery business. Her expertise includes growing hundreds of varieties of plants and timber harvesting. She also had dairy cattle and sheep.

In a video presentation at the awards banquet, Jenkins said, “I guess I always had the urge to grow.” In the beginning, she and her now late husband, Bryant, started growing watermelons. She said they learned a lot the hard way, but they learned. That was most important.

“We live so close to nature that we learned more about life that way,” said Jenkins. The landscaping pioneer was known for her cultivation of native plants – particularly azaleas. Jenkins attributed a lot of her success to the support she got from home. “My husband and I were a good team. We both worked.”

As for the late Pierre “Pete” Lanaux, he is considered one of the state’s most successful sugarcane farmers in St. John the Baptist Parish. He farmed for more than 70 years and was still active in daily operations when he passed away on Feb. 12 at age 93. His son, Peter, spoke of how his dad tried to retire, but shortly after, went back to work.

When Lanaux began his career, much of the field work was done by hand or with the help of mules. Today, the farm uses state-of-the-art planting and harvesting equipment, satellite technology and tablet computers to coordinate operations. Peter Lanaux even explained how his father never shied away from technology and even learned how to use a smartphone.

In recognizing those who have contributed greatly to the agricultural industry, Louisiana Department of Agriculture and Forestry Commissioner Mike Strain, D.V.M., reminded those in attendance the importance of agriculture, forestry and aquaculture. “The natural resource based industries are the basis of our economy,” said Strain.

The Hall of Distinction honors those who have made significant contributions to the state’s agriculture community in farming, ranching, forestry, aquaculture, education and agribusiness.

The annual Hall of Distinction induction ceremony is presented by Louisiana Radio Network in cooperation with the LSU AgCenter, the Louisiana Department of Agriculture and Forestry, and the Louisiana Farm Bureau Federation. Monsanto serves as title sponsor, and First South Farm Credit is the presenting sponsor.

Ouachita Parish man accused of illegal possession of stolen property

Baton Rouge, La. (March 22, 2018) – Louisiana Department of Agriculture and Forestry enforcement agents said a Monroe man is under arrest for being in possession of a stolen wood chip trailer from a truck repair shop.

In February, forestry enforcement agents received a complaint that a 2010 Innovative 46 foot wood chip trailer was stolen from a local truck repair shop in Monroe, La. on February 12, 2018.

“The chip trailer is used to transport timber products. On February 15, the owner was notified that the stolen trailer was parked at a location in Union Parish. Following an investigation, a warrant was issued for the arrest,” said Commissioner Mike Strain, D.V.M.

Fifty-year-old Cedric Newton, 109 La Verde St., West Monroe, La., was arrested March 16 for illegal possession of stolen things in Union Parish.

The trailer was reportedly valued at $51,000.

The Ouachita Parish Sheriff’s Office assisted in this arrest. Newton will be transferred to Union Parish where his bond is set at $5000.

If convicted, Newton faces up to 20 years behind bars and/or a fine of up to $50,000.

LDAF participates in "Leaders Against Litter" event

Armed with garbage bags and gloves, a group of LDAF employees joined Commissioner Mike Strain and wife, Dr. Susan Strain, March 23 to pick up trash around the LSU Lakes in Baton Rouge. The LDAF clean-up crew was one of many volunteers around the state participating in the annual Leaders Against Litter event where our state's elected officials, leaders, business leaders and public servants pick up discarded water bottles, cigarette butts and other garbage for an hour to clean up and Keep Louisiana Beautiful. Over 6,000 bags and 126,000 pounds of litter was picked up across the state on March 23. The annual event is sponsored by Keep Louisiana Beautiful.

LDAF Assistant Commissioner of Agro-Consumer Services Dr. Steve Sessums made quick work of litter pickup with his kayak.

What's Your Personality?

Weights and Measures division Middle Managers attended a personality and conflict resolution training recently as part of their quarterly meeting held at headquarters recently. This is part of their training program outlined to help develop management and leadership skills to better meet the needs of their inspectors relative to coaching, communicating as well as supporting professional development throughout the year. Topics for the annual training schedule were developed through input of middle managers through an interactive Kahoot online survey back in October.

This two hour training conducted by Julie Miller, Training and Development Specialist with the Louisiana State Civil Service Comprehensive Public Training Program (CPTP), gave middle managers some effective tools based on their personality styles as well as tips on better communicating to assist in more effective communication as well as conflict management. Middle manager team members learned their personality style based on an online pre-test that put them into four different personality style categories using the DISC personality process.
