It's Official: World Record Grapefruit in Louisiana

LDAF Weights and Measures Division employees provided the official equipment to document the massive grapefruit. Its circumference measured 28.75 inches and weighed in at 7 lbs. 14.64 oz.

Mary Beth and Doug Meyer display the Guinness Book of World Records certificates of recognition presented by LDAF Commissioner Mike Strain, D.V.M. Their grandchildren were also on hand to celebrate the designation.

LDAF Commissioner Mike Strain chats with the Meyer grandchildren about the giant grapefruit they helped their grandfather, Doug, grow.

Tuesday, Aug. 27, 2019, Louisiana Department of Agriculture and Forestry (LDAF) Commissioner Mike Strain, D.V.M., presented a certificate of recognition on behalf of the Guinness Book of World Records to the new title holder of the largest and heaviest grapefruit in the world.

Mary Beth and Doug Meyer of Slidell, La. in St. Tammany Parish grew a seven pound 14.64 ounce grapefruit. It beat the old record which was a seven pound one ounce grapefruit measuring 27.5 inches and grown in Brazil. It held the record since 2006.

Members of the LDAF Weights and Measures Division were on hand to officially weigh and measure the circumference of the fruit which measured 28.75 inches.

"My grandchildren created a fairy garden at the base of the tree. One day, my grandson noticed the oversized grapefruit growing. At that point, we really started paying attention and monitoring its development," said Doug Meyer. "This experience will always be a special memory for us and our grandchildren."

"It's not every day you get to present someone with a world record title," said Strain. "LDAF employees were able to provide the official equipment to document this wonderful Louisiana grown grapefruit. We congratulate the Meyer's for their achievement and especially for getting the grandkids involved and teaching them how to garden!"

Licensed surveyors and horticulturists were also on hand to inspect the physical condition of the grapefruit. The LDAF provided an official notice of inspection document to the Guinness Book of World Records.

FRESH PRODUCE FARMERS, PACKERS, DISTRIBUTION CENTERS

The Louisiana Department of Agriculture and Forestry is able to provide fresh produce farmers, packing facilities and distribution centers in Louisiana with basic Good Agriculture Practice/Good Handling Practices (GAP/GHP) audits, as well as, GAPs Harmonized audits (with or without the Global addendum).

GAP audits are a voluntary for hire service that certifies a producer's efforts to provide safe, quality product free from contamination to the consumer.

For more information or to schedule an audit, contact Audrey Carrier at our Hammond office at 985-543-4024 or email acarrier@ldaf.state.la.us.

Business workshop for farm, ranch women set for Sept. 19-20 near Alexandria

The LSU AgCenter Annie's Project is sponsoring a two-day workshop to help farm and ranch women navigate the business side of their enterprises.

The next course will be offered on Sept. 19-20 from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. each day at the AgCenter Dean Lee Research and Extension Center near Alexandria.

Maria Bampasidou, the AgCenter state coordinator of Annie's Project, said farm and ranch women are generating a cultural tide in American agriculture that is moving management, assets and opportunities to a new wave of farmers across the country.

"At Annie's Project courses, farm women become empowered to be better business partners or sole operators through networks and by managing and organizing critical information," she said.

Annie's Project is a discussion-based workshop that brings women together to learn from experts in production, financial management, human resources, marketing and law.

Annie's Project courses have successfully reached more than 9,000 farm and ranch women in 33 states.

Whether new or experienced, it's important for farmers and ranchers to understand agricultural risk, how to analyze spreadsheets and other business skills, Bampasidou said.

Space in the course is limited. Registration is free and must be completed by Sept. 13.

This course includes a workbook and support materials. Meals are also provided.

For more information, contact Bampasidou at 225-578-2367 or mbampasidou@agcenter.lsu.edu, or visit the AgCenter Annie's Project website at www.lsuagcenter.com/topics/community/annies_project. The national website is www.AnniesProject.org.

LDAF Launches Unwanted Pesticide Pick-Up Program

This fall, the Louisiana Department of Agriculture and Forestry (LDAF) is launching a program to collect unwanted pesticides from agricultural producers across the state who need assistance disposing of them properly.

Eligible items include but are not limited to partially full containers of pesticides and pesticide products that are cancelled or expired.

The Unwanted Pesticide Pick-Up Program will be conducted at various locations in the state on an annual basis. There is no cost to the farmer, and it is completely anonymous for those who wish to participate.

The only pesticide collection program of this nature in Louisiana was conducted by LDAF in 1996. Upon completion of the project, the department had collected approximately 200 tons of unused pesticides.

"Agricultural producers tend to accumulate pesticides over time due to partially full containers being held for later use or that don't contain enough product to complete an application," said Commissioner of Agriculture and Forestry Mike Strain, D.V.M. "The goal of the program is to assist Louisiana agricultural producers in properly disposing of unwanted pesticides and to ensure that human health and the environment in Louisiana are protected."

Currently in Louisiana, an individual wishing to dispose of pesticide products must contact a licensed contractor for disposal, which results in a costly fee based on pounds of product(s) submitted for disposal. The LDAF program will not require a fee for the disposal of unwanted pesticides. The cost of the program will be funded through fees associated with pesticide manufacturers' product registrations in Louisiana. All pesticides offered for sale in Louisiana must be registered annually with the LDAF.

The LDAF has retained a licensed contractor for the program. This contractor will assume all responsibility for pesticide products delivered to the designated locations and for disposal.

LSU AgCenter extension agents will assist LDAF in compiling an inventory of pesticide products in each parish. The inventory list will provide valuable information regarding the quantity and types of pesticides that need to be properly disposed. Information gathered from the inventory will enable LDAF to determine the best drop-off locations across the state. The drop-off locations and date are expected to be announced in late September.

Corn harvest off to a disappointing start

By Bruce Schultz
LSU AgCenter

Corn harvest in Louisiana is underway, and this year's crop is not expected to set any records.

LSU AgCenter corn specialist Dan Fromme said yields appear to be down by 10% to 20% from last year, but there is considerable variation.

Lower yields can be blamed on heavy rains or rain at the wrong time that delayed planting. "We had a lot of water standing in some young corn for an extremely long period," he said.

Fromme expects a statewide average yield between 165 and 175 bushels per acre compared to previous years with yields around 185 bushels per acre.

Corn acreage increased this year because farmers shifted from soybeans. "Some producers thought they had a better chance of profitability with corn," he said.

In 2018, Louisiana farmers grew corn on 425,000 acres, and that increased this year by 100,000-125,000 acres.

The harvest is not yet at the half-way point.

"When you look at the past couple of years, we are on schedule — maybe a little behind, but not very much," Fromme said.

Scott Williams, of Avoyelles Parish, raised about 3,000 acres of corn with his brother, Alan. They only had about a week left in their harvest along the Red River in the Vick community.

Yields are off on his farm also by about 20 percent, and Williams attributes that decrease to 40 inches of rain during the growing season.

"Our yields are probably off by 40 bushels on some of the ground that doesn't drain as well," he said.

Yields are following contours of their land and exceeded 200 bushels in some places. "On the higher land, well-drained, our yields are significantly better," he said.

The Williamses planted corn on fields where they had previously grown soybeans because of the price and the difficult harvest last year. Planting went well, although river flooding prevented planting on about 100 acres, Williams said.
