USDA adds eligible commodities to CFAP, including crawfish

Baton Rouge, La. (Aug. 11, 2020) -Louisiana Commissioner of Agriculture and Forestry Mike Strain, D.V.M., said the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) announced that additional commodities are covered by the Coronavirus Food Assistance Program (CFAP) in response to public comments and data.

The USDA is also extending the deadline to apply for the program to Sept. 11, 2020.

“When the COVID-19 pandemic hit this spring right at the peak of crawfish season, crawfish producers felt the impact immediately,” Strain said.

“Since CFAP was first announced in May, we have been working with the Louisiana Farm Bureau Federation, the LSU AgCenter and our congressional delegation to add crawfish to CFAP eligibility. After significant research and data collection which was supplied to Washington, crawfish is now eligible for direct payments under the CFAP. I commend USDA Secretary Sonny Perdue for acting quickly to include crawfish in CFAP direct payment eligibility,” Strain said.

The program is administered by the Farm Service Agency (FSA).

USDA collected comments and supporting data for consideration of additional commodities through June 22, 2020. The following additional commodities are now eligible for CFAP:

- Specialty Crops - aloe leaves, bananas, batatas, bok

- choy, carambola (star fruit), cherimoya, chervil (french parsley), citron, curry leaves, daikon, dates, dill, donqua (winter melon), dragon fruit (red pitaya), endive, escarole, filberts, frisee, horseradish, kohlrabi, kumquats, leeks, mamey sapote, maple sap (for maple syrup), mesculin mix, microgreens, nectarines, parsley, persimmons, plantains, pomegranates, pummelos, pumpkins, rutabagas, shallots, tangelos, turnips/celeriac, turmeric, upland/winter cress, water cress, yautia/malanga, and yuca/cassava.

- Non-Specialty Crops and Livestock - liquid eggs, frozen eggs and all sheep. Only lambs and yearlings (sheep less than two years old) were previously eligible.
- Aquaculture - catfish, crawfish, largemouth bass and carp sold live as foodfish, hybrid striped bass, red drum, salmon, sturgeon, tilapia, trout, ornamental/tropical fish, and recreational sportfish.
- Nursery Crops and Flowers - nursery crops and cut flowers.

CFAP was first announced on May 19, 2020 to provide up to $16 billion in direct payments to America’s farmers and ranchers who suffered losses during the coronavirus pandemic.

Additional details can be found in the Federal Register in the Notice of Funding Availability and Final Rule Correction and at www.farmers.gov/cfap.

Mystery seeds delivered to Louisiana resident

(July 24, 2020) - The Louisiana Department of Agriculture and Forestry (LDAF) was notified that a resident in St. Rose, La. received an unsolicited package of seeds originating from China.

At this time, recent reports indicate that unsolicited packages of seeds have been received by people in Utah, Virginia, Washington and the United Kingdom.

“Right now, we are uncertain what types of seeds are in the package. Out of caution, we are urging anyone who receives a package that was not ordered by the recipient, to please call the LDAF immediately,” said Commissioner of Agriculture and Forestry Mike Strain, D.V.M. “We need to identify the seeds to ensure they do not pose a risk to Louisiana’s agricultural industry or the environment.”

If you received an unsolicited package of seeds originating from a foreign country, follow the instructions below:

1. Do not open the seed packages.
2. Do not plant seeds from unknown origins.
3. Retain the seeds and packaging, including the mailing label.
4. Do ONE of the following:

-Fill out a Seed/Plant Pickup Request <https://form.jotform.com/202155960677057>

-Call the LDAF State Seed Lab at 225-925-4733

-Mail seed packages to:

Horticulture field day held in virtual format

The current pandemic is causing the LSU AgCenter to develop new ways to get horticulture information to those who need it.

This year, the Hammond Research Station staff are joining other AgCenter staff in bringing their research to clientele through a virtual format.

AgCenter commercial horticulture specialist Jeb Fields and the staff at Hammond conducted tours of the station to show the work that continues in spite of the current situation.

The 2020 Hammond Research Station virtual field day provided a wealth of information for homeowners as well as professionals in the landscape industry.

The field day can be viewed online at <https://bit.ly/hammondfieldday>.

Four icons of agriculture were inducted into the Louisiana Agriculture Hall of Distinction during a ceremony Aug. 6 at the L'Auberge Hotel in Baton Rouge.

The four individuals are James Barnett, a forestry researcher from Pineville; John Denison, a rice, crawfish and cattle farmer from Iowa; Jay Hardwick, a row crop farmer from Newellton; and Calvin Viator, an agricultural crop consultant from Thibodaux.

Barnett was raised in the Ouachita mountains of Arkansas and spent nearly five decades with the U.S. Forest Service. He spent summers in Idaho planting trees to finance his college education, and after graduating, he enlisted in the U.S. Coast Guard and spent more than 20 years in the Coast Guard Reserve.

One of his first duties with the Forest Service focused on increasing the survivability of seedlings used to replenish areas that had been cut.

"Alexandria has a reforestation program in research," Barnett said. "My assigned task when I came to work: figure out how to produce seed, overcome dormancy and how to grow millions of seedlings from the seed we had available."

Forestry is Louisiana's largest agricultural commodity. Barnett understood the importance of maintaining a healthy forest industry because of the many benefits.

"They contribute a great deal to the economy of the state and the whole South," he said. "So, forests are a big part of our environment, and to me, there's just something aesthetic about it. You drive down the road, you're going through a forest, you feel good about it."

Denison, a third-generation farmer, has played key roles in the Louisiana Rice Research Board and Louisiana Farm Bureau and served more than 30 years on the Calcasieu Parish School Board. His career in farming fulfilled a life-long dream.

"From the time I was old enough to get on a tractor, I fell in love with the farming operation," Denison said. He enjoyed "everything that was on the farm, from working cattle and driving tractors in the field or helping prepare fields for rice growing."

Because of the ups and downs associated with commodity prices, Denison developed a detailed recordkeeping system that prepared him for the good times and the bad.

"Farming has always been a challenge," he said. "It's always been ups and downs. Many times, the prices did not equal what our production costs were. I had to be very studious in recordkeeping and knowing where the dollars needed to be put to serve me best."

Hardwick began his career teaching art at the university level. A fortuitous set of circumstances found him on the family farm of his wife Mary in Tensas Parish. It was here the allure of farming engulfed him.

"In an academic setting where I came from, control is everything," Hardwick said. "You have an air-conditioned environment. Mother Nature is completely unpredictable. But that's part of the seductive quality of farming that I completely enjoy to this day."

Hardwick is not from the South, and he didn't start out with farming in his roots. With his induction, he considers it being accepted into the Louisiana farming community.

"I wasn't born in Louisiana," he said. "I feel like this is my citizenship. This recognition has made me feel very much a part of Louisiana in a way that I haven't been full before. I am part of the Louisiana family."

Viator has had two successful careers. His first one involved teaching agricultural classes at Nicholls State University for 30 years. During this time, he launched his second career that he continues to perform today: an agricultural consulting business in the heart of Louisiana's sugarcane belt.

"I was fortunate that circumstances allowed me to do both," Viator said. "While at Nicholls, I only signed a nine-month contract, so I was free during the critical months for doing consulting."

Viator's consulting work requires knowledge in various disciplines, including entomology, plant pathology and soil fertility. It also takes a degree of human psychology working with diverse clientele.

"The biggest challenge in ag consulting is — I tell young people, you've got to find out what connects with your clients," he said. It's not always the same. We're proud of the fact that many of our clientele are on the third generation."

Since its creation seven years ago, 22 people have been enshrined into the Louisiana Agriculture Hall of Distinction. The hall is a collaborative effort between the LSU AgCenter, the Louisiana Radio Network, Louisiana Farm Bureau Federation and the Louisiana Department of Agriculture and Forestry. It recognizes individuals who have made significant contributions to agriculture and agriculture-related industries in Louisiana.
