LDAF Now Accepting SCBGP Applications

The Louisiana Department of Agriculture and Forestry's (LDAF) Commissioner Mike Strain, D.V.M., announced LDAF is now accepting applications for the 2022 Specialty Crop Block Grant Program (SCBGP).

Applications must be received no later than the close of business (4:30 p.m.) March 15, 2022.

The LDAF will administer the grant program funded through the United States Department of Agriculture - Agricultural Marketing Service (USDA-AMS). The LDAF anticipates nearly $400,000 to be allocated to fund Louisiana projects.

The grants are to be used for projects that enhance the competitiveness of Louisiana-grown specialty crops like fruits, vegetables, tree nuts, dried fruits, and nursery crops, including floriculture and horticulture in either domestic or foreign markets.

Applicants must reside in or their organization or educational affiliation must be in Louisiana. All applicants are required to obtain a Data Universal Numbering System (DUNS) number and include that number on their application.

Grant funds will not be awarded for projects that directly benefit a particular commercial product or provide a profit to a single organization, institution, or individual. Projects should focus on issues to help improve specialty crop industries as a whole such as distribution, production, research, pest and disease control, market development, increased nutrition knowledge and consumption, food safety, promotion, and education. Producer associations, state and/or local organizations, state or local governments, qualified educational institutions, nonprofits, and other specialty crop stakeholders are eligible recipients. Single organizations, institutions, and individuals are encouraged to participate as project partners.

Once the deadline has passed, all applications submitted to the LDAF will be carefully evaluated to determine if the projects are qualified based on the criteria listed in the guidelines. All submitted project applications deemed qualified will be reviewed and scored by a panel consisting of industry stakeholders, and the panel will make funding recommendations to LDAF. All LDAF approved projects will be incorporated into one state grant request, which will be submitted to the USDA.

LDAF has prepared a Request for Applications (RFA) document detailing application instructions, scoring criteria, federal forms, project format examples, and other helpful information from the USDA. The document may be found at <https://www.ldaf.state.la.us/consumers/agro-consumer-services-dairy/specialty-crops-program/>.

A complete list of eligible specialty crops may be found at <https://www.ams.usda.gov/sites/default/files/media/USDA-SpecialtyCropDefinition.pdf>.

CRAWFISH BREAD PIE

Submitted by SoLA Seasonings

Ingredients:

- 2 tablespoons butter
- ½ cup onion, minced
- ½ cup celery, minced
- ¼ cup red bell pepper, minced
- ¼ cup green bell pepper, minced
- 1 ½ tablespoons fresh garlic, minced
- ¼ cup green onion tops, chopped
- ¼ teaspoon thyme
- ⅛ teaspoon fresh sage, finely chopped
- ¼ teaspoon fresh parsley, chopped fine
- 1 ½ teaspoon SoLa Cajun seasoning
- ½ teaspoon sea salt
- 1 pinch cracked black pepper
- 1 pound peeled LOUISIANA crawfish tails (with fat!)
- 1 cup mozzarella cheese, shredded
- 1 cup Monterey Jack cheese, shredded
- ½ cup Mayo
- 1 teaspoon Zatarains Creole mustard

Instructions:

Melt the butter over medium heat in a large skillet. Add the onion, celery, and bell pepper. Cook, stirring occasionally, until wilted. Add the garlic, thyme, sage, parsley and 1 teaspoon SoLa Cajun Seasoning and cook for about 2 minutes. Add the crawfish tails, salt, pepper, and remaining SoLa Cajun Seasoning and cook, stirring, until the crawfish have warmed through and any released liquid has evaporated. Stir in the green onions and set aside to cool. When the crawfish have cooled, stir in the mayonnaise, Creole mustard, and the cheeses until well combined. Taste and adjust the seasoning if necessary. Spoon out the dough on a lightly floured surface about ¼ inches thick and cut into 5 inch circles with a biscuit cutter or large glass. Spoon filling evenly between rounds, fold over edges, and pinch closed. Use a fork to crimp and seal the edges of each pie. Cover and chill 30 minutes-1 hour in freezer. Chef's note: these can be made well in advance and frozen for use at a later date. Heat oil (deep enough to completely submerge pies) in a large pot or Dutch oven to around 375 degrees F. Add pies to oil, a few at a time and cook until a beautiful golden brown is reached, flipping periodically, for about 8 minutes. Remove, drain on paper towels or a screen with drip pan.

Louisiana Vegetable Planting Guide

In Louisiana, vegetables can be planted year-round, but planning is key. With February coming to an end, it's time to start planning for our spring vegetables. Generally, the first spring planting should be made after the danger of frost is over.

When planning your garden, don't forget to use the Louisiana Vegetable Planting Guide as a reference. The information in this publication was developed after considerable research and practical experience. But please remember, it is just a guide. Always pay attention to local forecasts as those will help you decide to plant at suggested dates or possibly wait a while longer if the weather is not acting in a predictable manner. View the guide at <https://tinyurl.com/VegetablePlantingGuide>.

Additionally, for the gardener who is interested in the detailed culture of a certain crop, gardening tips for these crops are available on the LSU AgCenter website (<https://bit.ly/3dqe3cn>).

Now is a good time to prune trees

By Dan Gill, LSU AgCenter Horticulturist, retired

Virtually all trees in our landscapes will need to be pruned during their lives — particularly in the first two decades after planting. Sometimes a tree may need to be pruned in some way to help it, such as dealing with storm damage, reducing limb weight, removing dead limbs, and stopping the spread of disease.

Trees are also pruned to adapt them to our urban environment, including keeping limbs from coming in contact with power lines, rubbing against the home, hanging too low, or obstructing views. Pruning may also be done to make trees more attractive and useful in the home landscape.

When pruning, you must have a clear idea of what you are trying to accomplish. Ask yourself why you feel the tree needs to be pruned, and then carefully consider which branches need to be cut to achieve your goal.

When evaluating your trees for pruning, try to anticipate potential problems. Look at where branches are and how they are growing. Then, imagine the years going by and how that branch will grow. Will it eventually cause problems?

It's best to remove branches when they are relatively small. When possible, avoid removing branches larger than 4 inches. Branches that size or larger create big wounds that will take a long time to heal. Anticipating issues and pruning early to correct them minimizes the need to remove large branches.

When pruning a tree, try to work with the tree's natural growth pattern. If a branch is too long or growing in the wrong direction, prune it back to a side branch growing in a more appropriate direction or remove it entirely. Don't cut it back to some arbitrary point just to get it out of the way. This will leave an unattractive stub that's difficult for the tree to heal. And a shortened branch will likely just resprout with even more undesirable growth.

If limbs are less than three-quarters of an inch in diameter, they can be removed easily with hand pruners. By-pass pruners (the blades cross like scissors) generally give a better cut than the anvil type (one blade forced against a flat surface). Larger branches should be cut with loppers, a pruning saw or even a chainsaw.

When using a saw for pruning, you need the right kind of saw. Use a pruning saw designed for the job. Some have a slight curve in the blade, which aids the sawing action in tight spaces.

You must be especially careful to prune properly when pruning larger branches that grow out of the trunk. Some gardeners may still remember when it was recommended that branches should be cut flush with the tree's trunk. However, since the 1980s this has been discouraged. Research indicates that the wound will heal much faster and with less disease if the cut is made just to the outside of the branch collar.

The branch collar is a slightly swollen area at the base of the limb next to the trunk or at a limb junction. A naturally occurring protective chemical layer located there prevents rot.

Here's what to do for pruning a larger branch:

— Locate the bark ridge and branch collar (see diagram). Your final cut will be made according to where these structures are.

— Small branches may be removed with one cut. Make your cut just to the outside of the branch collar. If the branch collar is not apparent, find the bark ridge. Make your cut beginning at the outside top of the bark ridge and coming down at a 45-degree angle from the ridge. This will preserve the branch collar. Make a clean, smooth cut with a sharp saw. As you begin to complete the cut, hold the branch to support it until the cut is complete. This will prevent the branch from stripping away bark as it falls.

— If the limb is large, remove the branch with three cuts. First, cut about one-third of the way through the limb on the underside, approximately 8 inches from the trunk. Then, placing the saw a little farther out from the trunk on the topside, saw off the entire limb. The limb will break off at the first cut, preventing the limb from pulling away bark when it breaks away.

— The final cut to remove the remaining stub is made starting just outside of the bark ridge and sawing down at about a 45-degree angle from the bark ridge. This will leave a slight lip and preserve the branch collar. Never leave stubs on a tree when pruning branches. Chances of rot and decay development are quite high in hardwood species if the branch stub remains on the tree.

— The use of tree paints to seal the wound is not recommended. Research shows that such materials do not promote rapid healing or deter bacteria or fungi and may actually impede healing.

Trees can generally be pruned any time of the year. Winter is a good time to prune deciduous trees while they are leafless and you can see the structure of the tree more clearly.

Pruning trees can be dangerous to the person pruning. Always watch for power lines. Be careful when using power tools. If you have to climb in the tree to do the pruning, you should definitely consider hiring a professional. Think of safety first. If the job seems more than you can handle safely, call in a professional, state-licensed arborist.
