LOUISIANA DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE & FORESTRY
MIKE STRAIN DVM, COMMISSIONER

Help by Reporting, Solving an Agricultural or Forestry-Related Crime

The Louisiana Department of Agriculture and Forestry's (LDAF) mission is to promote, protect and advance agriculture, forestry, and soil and water resources. An aspect of that often involves the enforcement of Louisiana laws designed to protect agriculture and forestry producers, their businesses and industry partners, and Louisiana communities. The LDAF accomplishes this through the Livestock Brand Commission and the Forestry Enforcement Program.

The Livestock Brand Commission (LBC) investigates all agricultural crimes in Louisiana, including livestock thefts (cattle, equine, hogs, emus, ostriches, turtles, sheep, and exotics) and farm machinery and equipment. The LBC also maintains brand records and publishes the official book of brands.

Report or Solve a Crime

CATTLE THEFT OR OTHER AGRICULTURAL-RELATED CRIMES?

Contact the Crimestopper Hotline at 1-800-558-9741

FORESTRY-RELATED CRIMES?

Contact the Forestry Enforcement Program at 225-925-4500

Louisiana's livestock industry, valued at nearly $3 billion, contributes significantly to the state's economy. Livestock producers face many challenges, like high input costs, unfavorable weather, an uncertain economy, and an ever-changing regulatory environment. They don't need to worry about having their livelihood stolen from them as well. The LBC plays a large role in protecting the producer's property in this way.

THE 180 CAJUN TRINITY RIBEYES

Submitted by 180° Cajun Blendz & Seasonings

Ingredients:

Your choice of ribeyes
Compound butter (recipe below)

Instructions:

Pull ribeyes from refrigerator. Create your Trinity compound butter from the recipe provided.
Sprinkle ribeyes generously with The Cajun Trinity, and a pinch of La Cajun Gold to taste.
On a very hot grill Cook 4 minutes on one side. Flip. Once flipped, baste with compound butter. Wait 4 more minutes, flip to the original side and baste again. Let stand on grill for 30 seconds, and then remove. Let rest for a few minutes before serving.

Cajun Trinity Butter Recipe:

Ingredients:

2 sticks of butter, softened
2 tablespoons of Cajun Trinity Seasoning

Instructions:

Start with the 2 sticks of softened butter. Do NOT melt or use the microwave! The butter will separate. Add the seasoning to the softened butter. Mix thoroughly, blending all the seasoning into the butter. Once mixed, there are a number of ways to store it. 4 ounce soufflé cups work well. I have used large ice trays to make block, or you can roll it in plastic wrap and make a cylinder out of it so you can slice off what you need as you need it. Once in a sealed container, keep refrigerated.

Starting a Home Vegetable Garden

With Spring in full swing, we have been receiving numerous questions about starting a home vegetable garden. Growing your own vegetables is a great activity for the entire family. It gets everyone outside staying active, and it comes with added edible bonuses throughout the growing season.

As with any new adventure, you need to plan for your garden. Below are some steps and planning tips you need to consider before you start your garden.

Step 1: Think about the types of vegetables you would like to grow both in the fall and spring.

Step 2: Once you have decided on which vegetables you want to grow, take a look at LSU's Vegetable Planting Guide (<https://www.lsuagcenter.com/profiles/bneely/articles/page1481835882715>) to determine the spacing between your plants. These spacing recommendations will help you determine the overall size of your garden.

Step 3: Now that you know the approximate size of your garden, you need to begin to think about the materials you will use to create your garden. Vegetable gardens are being made from some unique things these days. The materials you choose will depend on a couple of things, the size of the garden, the size of your lawn, or even the size of your budget. Gardening, like most things, can be as expensive or inexpensive as you make it.

Here are a few ideas of possible garden materials to spark your imagination. The traditional garden is one that is installed in the ground by tilling or cultivating the soil to create rows to grow your vegetables. This is a very successful option but does require the use of some machines that most homeowners may not have access to use.

Raised garden beds are extremely popular these days. These can be made of treated or recycled wood, and they can be made into any shape you would like to fit your needs. It is typically recommended that most raised garden beds be at a minimum of 10" tall. This gives you enough room to grow most vegetables. It is also recommended that you either kill or remove all grass in the area of your raised garden beds. This will reduce the amount of grass growing up through your raised bed during the growing seasons. Some people also use a variety of recycled materials to make their raised beds. Just as a caution, watch out for any materials that may have been treated with pesticides in the past as we do not want this to be a reason our vegetables do not grow.

One recycled material source that we have used in local school gardens is molasses tubs that are used by most cattle producers. These tubs are great, but just be sure to clean them well and drill drainage holes in the bottom prior to putting in your soil. These also allow you to move them around based on your needs.

Step 4: So now that you know what you want to plant, the size and materials of your garden, you need to make certain that the area you have in mind to install your garden receives a minimum of 6 hours of direct sunlight each day. In the case of your vegetables, the more direct sunlight they receive the better. When selecting your location, you want to also make sure that it is close enough to a water source. This is super important because as we all know, plants do not grow without water. In the heat of the spring and summer in Louisiana, we need to water more often than you may think, especially in raised beds. Another thing to consider is irrigation for your garden, but we will have to save this for a later article as this is something that can get lengthy.

Step 5: So now that your garden is planned and built, you will need to add in the soil. If you are installing a raised bed of some sort you must begin to think about the soil you will use. Most of the garden supply stores and feed mills carry topsoil or garden soil. Depending on the size of your garden you can get these products in bags or in bulk orders. I recommend adding a generous amount of organic matter such as aged manure, partially decayed leaves, or peat moss to your top or garden soil. Make sure this organic matter is mixed into the soil thoroughly.

Many people ask about using an agriculture byproduct such as cotton gin trash or chicken litter. Both products are great; however, it is recommended to use them sparingly and only after they have broken down for a minimum of six months to a year before adding any amount to your garden. If you do not let them break down or compost for a bit before adding them to your soil, you may end up causing a "burning" effect to your vegetable plants. So please use them sparingly when adding them to your garden. Whether your garden is in the ground or in a raised bed, it's recommended that you take a soil sample to send to the LSU lab, so you know exactly what nutrients you have in your soil. This little added step could save you a lot of headache during the growing season.

Step 6: Select your vegetables and get them planted. Some vegetables can be directly sowed into your garden, while others need to be started and transplanted later. These transplants can be found in a variety of locations across the state at your local feed and supply stores.

Step 7: Water and scout your garden daily to see the needs of each plant. Please be on the lookout for anything causing your plant stress. Stressed plants are those that are susceptible to disease and insect pressure. So, keep them watered, remove the weed competition, and keep them healthy.

Step 8: The best step of all, harvest and enjoy the fruits of your labor. It is true what they say, locally grown vegetables are truly the best.

Again, vegetable gardening is extremely therapeutic and a great source of exercise. Both of what we all need with these trying times. More information can also be found at the LSU AgCenter website (<http://www.lsuagcenter.com/>), and remember we are here for you. Happy planting!

Woman arrested for theft of livestock in Red River Parish

A Shreveport woman was arrested March 23 by the Louisiana Department of Agriculture and Forestry's (LDAF) Livestock Brand Commission Inspectors regarding an investigation involving livestock theft in Red River Parish.

Sixty-eight-year-old Vera R. Ary of Shreveport was arrested in Red River Parish on a warrant for theft of livestock. The arrest was a result of an investigation by the LDAF's Livestock Brand Commission. During the investigation, it was determined that Ary received two head of livestock and failed to render proper payment to a local livestock market as required by law. The alleged theft occurred on or about January 20, 2021.

"It's unfortunate when we see this. The cattle producers are protected and receive their money from the local markets. However, the accused never compensate the markets, and as a result, these businesses suffer the financial losses," said LDAF Commissioner Mike Strain, D.V.M. "The law is specific when dealing with the purchase of livestock. The failure or refusal to pay for livestock acquired is a crime and a violation of the theft of livestock statute."

The Livestock Brand Commission was assisted in this investigation by the Shreveport Police Department, Red River Parish Sheriff's Department, and the 39th Judicial District Attorney's Office.

At this time, a bond amount has not been set, and the livestock has not been recovered.

The Livestock Brand Commission maintains a 24-hour Crimestoppers hotline at (800) 558-9741 for the public to report thefts.

Red Stick Farmers Market Reimagines Mid-Week Market

The Big River Economic and Agricultural Development Alliance (BREDA) is reimagining its seasonal, Tuesday market at the East Baton Rouge Main Library with new afternoon hours and a fresh atmosphere.

Starting April 19, the Red Stick Farmers Market will host a group of farmers and food artisans every Tuesday from 3:30-6:30 pm at the Main Library on Goodwood Blvd. Vendors will set up in the public plaza in front of the library, which boasts shaded walkways, water features, seating, and a large LED screen. Guests can shop for local fruits and vegetables, honey, seafood, meat, gelato, prepared foods, jams, jellies, and more while visiting the library or BREC's Independence Community Park and Botanic Gardens.

This market will be BREDA's first time offering an afternoon market, and the goal is to serve a wider audience and create an atmosphere where residents and families can spend time gathering. "In the past, our weekday markets have not accommodated those who work during the day," said BREDA's Deputy Director, Lisa Gray. "We want to freshen up this market and invite new people to not only shop but also stay awhile and enjoy the space and activities."

King Solomon will provide live music on opening day (April 19), and BREDA will collaborate with the library and other partners to offer ongoing events during the market such as cooking demonstrations and kids' activities. As with all of BREDA's markets, visitors can shop with cash, credit/debit, SNAP benefits, or Farmers Market Nutrition Program coupons. BREDA will match SNAP purchases dollar-for-dollar (up to $15/day), and kids can sign up for Red Stick Sprouts to receive $2 in tokens to shop.

The Red Stick Farmers Market takes place every Thursday and Saturday year-round, plus every Tuesday and Wednesday seasonally (April to July and October to December). The Saturday market is from 8:00 am till noon at the corner of 5th St and Main St, downtown Baton Rouge; the Thursday market is from 8:00 am till noon at Pennington Biomedical Research Center (6400 Perkins Road). Seasonally, the Tuesday market is from 3:30 till 6:30 pm at the Main Library at Goodwood (7711 Goodwood Blvd); the Wednesday mobile market is from 9:00 till noon at the ExxonMobil YMCA (7717 Howell Blvd).

Follow BREDA on Facebook (@breada) and Instagram (@redstickfarmersmarket) for more information on markets, programs, and events.

Established in 1996, BREDA is a nonprofit organization that works to support Louisiana's small family farmers and connect our community with fresh, locally-grown food. BREDA operates four weekly locations of the Red Stick Farmers Market and manages downtown's public marketplace, Main Street Market. For more information, visit www.breada.org.

LDAF brand inspectors are present at every livestock sale in the state and record each animal, brand, and owner. Inspectors often identify stolen cattle by the livestock owner's unique brand. Permanent identification, such as a brand, is a livestock owner's first line of defense against thieves. If you fall victim to livestock theft, your valuable property can be easily identified and recovered with permanent identification in place. The LBC maintains a list of all recorded brands and marks in the official brand book. The most recent version of the book contains 4,720 livestock brands.

Additionally, the LBC is responsible for creating, maintaining, and promoting a statewide Crimestoppers program in order to assist other law enforcement agencies in detecting and combating agricultural-related crimes. Of the anonymous tips submitted, the Commission determines which individuals shall be rewarded for providing information used in detecting, combating, and solving agricultural-related crimes. The Commission also determines the amount of any reward that is to be paid. The program is sponsored in a joint venture by the Louisiana Cattleman's Association and the Louisiana Farm Bureau Federation.

The LBC is made up of five employees across the state that are commissioned law enforcement officers who protect lives and property, deter and investigate agricultural-related crimes, bring perpetrators to justice, and perform other related duties. Help them help you. Do your part and report agricultural-related crimes to the Crimestoppers Hotline at 1-800-558-9741.

Louisiana foresters also face the concern of theft, but it doesn't stop there. Arson can devastate Louisiana's forestlands. Louisiana's forestlands cover 48% of the state's area or 13.8 million acres. Private, non-industrial landowners own 62 percent of the state's forestland, forest products industries own 29 percent, and the general public owns 9 percent.

This renewable resource provides the raw material for Louisiana's second-largest manufacturing employer - the forest products industry - with over 900 firms in 45 parishes directly employing over 25,000 people. An additional 8,000 people are employed in the harvesting and transportation of the resource. Overall, Louisiana's Forestry industry contributes $3.6 billion to the state's economy as well as a multitude of other benefits, including clean air and water, wildlife habitat, recreational opportunities, and scenic beauty.

It is the responsibility of the LDAF Forestry Enforcement Division to ensure the protection of life and property throughout forested areas of the state. Officers enforce forestry-related crimes, including but not limited to arson, timber theft, forestry equipment theft and vandalism, as well as offenses against departmental employees and property. Forestry-related crime rewards are co-sponsored by the Louisiana Forestry Association.

Forestry enforcement officers are commissioned by the State Forester as per LA.RS 3.4274.1 and are vested with the same authority and powers conferred by law upon regular law enforcement officers of this state. They also have primary responsibility for the collection, preparation, and central registry of information relating to the theft of timber and shall assist all law enforcement agencies in investigations of timber theft violations throughout Louisiana.

Enforcement officers are also authorized to audit records of timber harvesters and facilities that receive forest products to ensure compliance with civil statutes regulating the harvesting and receiving of timber products.

The most vulnerable person in this economic process is the private landowner, especially those who know little about the value of their timber or the proper way to contract the harvesting. Remember, your trees are a valuable asset representing many years of investment before contributing to your financial livelihood.

Enforcement officers work closely with timberland owners to educate, counsel, and direct them in the protection of their timber resources and legal options in pursuing settlements or criminal court actions. All activities are designed to promote public awareness and participation in the LDAF's effort to reduce all forestry-related crimes. To report a forestry-related crime, call 225-925-4500.

The identity of each person who submits information under any state or local livestock Crimestoppers program and any information that may lead to disclosing that person's identity shall be kept confidential. Remember, the LBC Crimestopper and Forestry Enforcement Programs only work if there are collaborative efforts from victims, local citizens, media and other law enforcement agencies to help stop, solve, and prevent crime. We hope you'll do your part and report any agriculture or forestry crimes when you see them.

Strawberry Season is in Full Swing in Louisiana

LDAF Commissioner Mike Strain, D.V.M., visited the Julian Dufreche Strawberry Day in the Park with LDAF's 'Spokesberry', Jazzy Strawberry recently. It was the much-anticipated return of the event after being canceled the last two years as a result of the pandemic. The event is a preliminary to the Ponchatoula Strawberry Festival which is being held April 8-10 this year.

Louisiana's strawberry industry dates back to the 1800s when The Great Economic Migration brought a wave of Italians and Hungarians to America with hopes of finding work. Many moved to Louisiana and began strawberry farms in the warmer weather and rich soil. By the 1920s, the industry was booming. Louisiana farmers sold their berries to local associations, which shipped their goods across the United States. The industry peaked in 1931. Today, most Louisiana strawberries stay right at home, supplying local grocery stores and farmers' markets. Strawberries grown in Southeast Louisiana are known to be the sweetest in the nation.

Be sure to visit www.louisianastrawberries.com to learn where you can buy Louisiana strawberries, how to select and store them, more about their nutritional benefits, and delicious recipes for preparing them.

We hope you join us at the 50th Anniversary celebration of the Ponchatoula Strawberry Festival. LDAF Commissioner Mike Strain, D.V.M., and Jazzy Strawberry would love to say Hi!

Reservations can be made up to 90 days in advance so if you are hoping to get a spot in June or join us for our Fourth of July festivities, mark your calendars now to get online in the coming weeks to make your reservation.

For those unfamiliar, within the Alexander State Forest lies the Indian Creek Recreation Area located between I-49 and US Hwy 165 in central Rapides Parish. This sprawling area encompasses 100 acres of developed recreation facilities, 250 acres of primitive camping area, and the 2,250-acre Indian Creek Lake. The recreation area contains over 100 campsites with water and electricity. Other amenities include 3 beach areas, 5 bathrooms across the main park, laundry facilities, playground equipment, handicap parking, boat launch, wi-fi (in the RV area), and a covered pavilion for rental. There are trails available for scouting out the various plant and tree species and abundant wildlife. This area is also home to the red-cockaded woodpecker. Trees marked with white paint indicate the homes of the endangered woodpecker.

We will host our Annual Easter Egg Hunt on April 16. It is open to the public, but visitors must purchase a Day Pass which is $7 per vehicle. We hope to see you there!

China Inbound Trade Mission to North Carolina & Louisiana

North Carolina & Louisiana
June 20-23, 2022

China is the third largest export market for U.S. agricultural and related products. With limited arable land and increasing demand for meat, poultry, and dairy, the country must import animal feed ingredients and food grains to meet its livestock and food security needs. In 2019, the United States exported $16.3 billion of U.S. agricultural and related products to China. Consumers are upgrading their consumption habits, which is driving demand for imported tree nuts, wine, spirits, prepared foods, snack foods, live seafood, and many other products. China remains one of the most dynamic markets in the world and offers great opportunities for overseas suppliers and investors.

This mission is an ideal platform for US suppliers looking to introduce their products in mainland China. This mission provides great opportunity for companies that are new-to-export or new-to-China, to acquire first-hand information and insight on the China demands for U.S. and other imported foods. Companies are also able to establish important connections through one-on-one meetings with key buyers in China without traveling to the market. Register with SUSTA and take advantage of this opportunity!

Participation Fee: $12.50 - One-on-one meetings with Chinese Buyers in Raleigh, North Carolina – June 20-21
$12.50 - One-on-one meetings with Chinese Buyers in New Orleans, Louisiana – June 22-23
