MIKE STRAIN DVM, COMMISSIONER

Crawfish Tales takes a trip to Chauvin

In the latest episode of CRAWFISH TALES WITH COMMISSIONER MIKE STRAIN, we visit Certified Louisiana company Tillman's Seafood in Chauvin. The Tillmans specialize in crab, softshell crab, and shrimp. They are the perfect example of how choosing Louisiana Seafood ensures that your purchase benefits a Louisiana family, community, and way of life.

The Tillmans are part of an important aspect of Louisiana's economy - aquaculture. Aquaculture is the practice of farming aquatic organisms. Aquaculture businesses breed and harvest plants and animals in water - freshwater or seawater - and prepare them for human consumption. The aquaculture industry in Louisiana includes a variety of aquatic organisms, including crawfish, catfish, alligators, oysters, tilapia, baitfish, crabs, shrimp, and a number of freshwater gamefish.

According to the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, the aquaculture industry is "probably the fastest growing food-producing sector and now accounts for 50 percent of the world's fish that is used for food." Also of note, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration's Aquaculture Program reports that mariculture (aquaculture of saltwater species) is in its infancy in the U.S., amounting to just over $1 billion of a $70 billion worldwide industry. This is an excellent opportunity for Louisiana.

Our fluid coastline of bayous, wetlands, rivers, and marshes fed by the Mississippi River basin creates the perfect ecosystem for hundreds of fish and shellfish species. These abundant fresh, brackish, and marine water resources, mixed with Louisiana's heavy soils, flatlands, temperate water, and semi-tropical climate, allow Louisiana to be a leader in aquaculture in the United States.

While aquaculture has a unique culture and heritage that has provided for Louisiana families for generations, it is relatively new to global trade. In 1976, Congress passed a bill declaring the potential for aquaculture in the United States. Congressman (later U.S. Senator) John Breaux of Crowley was a co-author of the bill. Of importance in the legislations was a call to develop a National Aquaculture Plan, and the

PASTALAYA

Submitted by Panola Pepper

- Ingredients:
- 1 package smoked Andouille sausage
 - 2 grilled chicken breasts (or ½ rotisserie chicken)
 - 1 onion, chopped
 - 1 green bell pepper, chopped
 - 1 orange/yellow bell pepper
 - 3 cloves of garlic, minced
 - 1 stick of butter
 - 3 cups heavy cream, warmed
 - ½ bottle Panola Gourmet Pepper Sauce
 - 2 teaspoons oregano
 - 8 ounces penne pasta
 - Salt and pepper to taste
 - 4 ounces Tasso (optional)

Instructions:

Grill chicken and set aside. Brown sausage and Tasso. Set aside. Melt butter in the skillet and sauté the onions and bell peppers at medium heat. Once onion mix is tender, add 1 cup of cream and stir. Lower the heat and add another cup of cream. Add all seasonings and continue to stir. Let simmer 3-4 minutes then stir in ½ cup cream. Add pasta and last ½ cup cream. Simmer a few minutes to thicken and serve. Top with Parmesan cheese.

ROASTED GARLIC POTATOES AND SAUSAGE

Submitted by Richard's Cajun Foods

- Ingredients:
- 1 12 ounce package of Richard's Pork Smoked Sausage
 - 1 pound baby red potatoes
 - 8 ounces petite baby carrots
 - 1 teaspoon of each dried basil, dried thyme, dried oregano, and paprika
 - ½ teaspoon onion powder
 - Salt and cracked pepper
 - ¼ cup olive oil separated
 - 8 ounces asparagus
 - ½ large yellow onion
 - 1 tablespoon garlic, minced
 - ⅓ cup freshly grated Parmesan
 - Fresh parsley (optional)

Instructions:

Preheat the oven to 400 degrees F. Line a very large sheet pan with parchment paper or foil for easier clean-up (optional). Halve the baby red potatoes. In a small bowl, mix together all of the seasonings: the dried basil, thyme, oregano, paprika, onion powder, and salt and pepper. Place the halved red potatoes and baby carrots on the sheet pan. Pour 2 tablespoons olive oil and half of the seasoning mix on top. Toss to combine and place in the oven for 20 minutes. Meanwhile, prepare the asparagus by trimming the ends and cutting into 2 inch pieces. Thinly slice the yellow onion. Coin the Richard's Smoked Sausage. Remove the potatoes and carrots from the oven and using a spatula push them to one side of the pan. On the other side add in the chopped asparagus, sliced onion, Richard's Smoked Sausage, and minced garlic. Add the remaining 2 tablespoons olive oil and remaining seasoning mix. Toss to combine and then toss those ingredients with the potatoes and carrots. Bake for another 10-15 minutes or until veggies are roasted to your desired preference. Top the dish with freshly grated parmesan and fresh parsley as desired. Enjoy immediately.

PECAN PARMESAN CRUSTED CHICKEN

Submitted by Sugar Land Pecan

Ingredients:

Pecan parmesan Chicken:

- 4 boneless, skinless chicken breasts
- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- 2 large eggs
- 1½ cups Sugarland Pecan pieces
- ½ cup grated Parmesan Cheese
- 1 teaspoon garlic powder
- 1 teaspoon onion powder
- 1 teaspoon Italian seasoning
- ⅓ cup canola oil

Kosher salt and pepper

Lemon Basil Butter:

- 4 tablespoons unsalted butter
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 tablespoon shallot, minced
- 3 tablespoons lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons basil, chopped

Kosher salt and pepper

Instructions:

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Lightly grease a baking sheet with canola oil. Place the chicken breasts between two pieces of plastic wrap. Using a meat tenderizer, pound each breast until it is ½ inch thick. Heat canola oil in a large cast iron pan over medium heat. Prepare your dredging station by adding the all-purpose flour and a generous pinch of kosher salt and black pepper to a shallow bowl. To the second shallow bowl, add the eggs; slightly beat using a fork. In a third shallow bowl, combine chopped pecans, Parmesan cheese, garlic powder, onion powder, Italian seasoning, 1 teaspoon kosher salt, and ½ teaspoon black pepper. Dip each breast in the flour mixture until lightly coated on both sides, then in the egg mixture, allowing the excess to drip off. Finally, dip each breast in the pecan mixture, pressing the mixture onto each side of the breast. Make sure each breast is thoroughly coated. Gently place chicken in hot oil. Cook on each side for 3-4 minutes, or until golden brown. Season with a pinch of kosher salt immediately after flipping, and do the same on the other side after you remove the breasts from the hot oil and transfer them to the prepared baking sheet. Bake for 15 minutes, or until the internal temperature reads 165 degrees F on an instant-read thermometer. While the breasts are in the oven, make the lemon basil butter by melting the butter in a small saucepan over medium-low heat. Add the garlic and shallot and allow to cook, stirring often, for 3-4 minutes, or until the shallot is soft and the garlic is fragrant. Whisk in the lemon juice and allow the mixture to cook for an additional minute. Stir in the basil. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Allow the breasts to rest for 5 minutes. Serve with the lemon basil butter.

credit to producers recovering from natural disasters through emergency loans. Emergency loans can be used to meet various recovery needs, including replacing essential items such as equipment or livestock, the reorganization of a farming operation, or the refinance of certain debts. FSA will review the loans based on the extent of losses, security available, and repayment ability.

"We urge every farmer to contact their local Farm Services Agency for program eligibility requirements," said the LDAF Commissioner Mike Strain,

D.V.M. "The application deadline for assistance varies by notice, but they all fall in December."

Every Louisiana parish is covered as a primary disaster area or a contiguous parish. According to the U.S. Drought Monitor, these parishes suffered from a drought intensity value during the growing season of 1) D2 Drought-Severe for eight or more consecutive weeks or 2) D3 Drought-Extreme or D4 Drought-Exceptional.

USDA to Provide Payments to Livestock Producers Impacted by Drought, Wildfire

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) today announced that ranchers who have approved applications through the 2021 Livestock Forage Disaster Program (LFP) for forage losses due to severe drought or wildfire in 2021 will soon begin receiving emergency relief payments for increases in supplemental feed costs in 2021 through the Farm Service Agency's (FSA) new Emergency Livestock Relief Program (ELRP).

Background

On September 30, 2021, President Biden signed into law the Extending Government Funding and Delivering Emergency Assistance Act (P.L. 117-43). This Act includes $10 billion in assistance to agricultural producers impacted by wildfires, droughts, hurricanes, winter storms and other eligible disasters experienced during calendar years 2020 and 2021. Additionally, the Act specifically targets $750 million to provide assistance to livestock producers for losses incurred due to drought or wildfires in calendar year 2021. ELRP is part of FSA's implementation of the Act.

For impacted ranchers, USDA will leverage LFP data to deliver immediate relief for increases in supplemental feed costs in 2021. LFP is an important tool that provides up to 60% of the estimated replacement feed cost when an eligible drought adversely impacts grazing lands or 50% of the monthly feed cost for the number of days the producer is prohibited from grazing the managed rangeland because of a qualifying wildfire.

FSA received more than 100,000 applications totaling nearly $670 million in payments to livestock producers under LFP for the 2021 program year.

Congress recognized requests for assistance beyond this existing program and provided specific funding for disaster-impacted livestock producers in 2021.

Emergency Relief Program (ERP) Assistance for Crop Producers

FSA is developing a two-phased process to provide assistance to diversified, row crop and specialty crop operations that were impacted by an eligible natural disaster event in calendar years 2020 or 2021.

This program will provide assistance to crop producers and will follow a two-phased process similar to that of the livestock assistance with implementation of the first phase in the coming weeks. Phase one of the crop assistance program delivery will leverage existing Federal Crop Insurance or Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program data as the basis for calculating initial payments.

Making the initial payments using existing safety net and risk management data will both speed implementation and further encourage participation in these permanent programs, including the Pasture, Rangeland, Forage Rainfall

Index Crop Insurance Program, as Congress intended.

The second phase of the crop program will be intended to fill additional assistance gaps and cover eligible producers who did not participate in existing risk management programs.

Through proactive communication and outreach, USDA will keep producers and stakeholders informed as ERP implementation details are made available.

Additional Livestock Drought Assistance

Due to the persistent drought conditions in the Great Plains and West, FSA will be offering additional relief through the Emergency Assistance for Livestock, Honeybees and Farm-raised Fish Program (ELAP) to help ranchers cover above normal costs of hauling livestock to forage. This policy enhancement complements previously announced ELAP compensation for hauling feed to livestock. Soon after FSA announced the assistance for hauling feed to livestock, stakeholders were quick to point out that producers also were hauling the livestock to the feed source as well and encouraged this additional flexibility.

It is important to note that, unlike ELRP emergency relief benefits which are only applicable for eligible losses incurred in the 2021 calendar year, this ELAP livestock and feed hauling compensation will not only be retroactive for 2021 but will also be available for losses in 2022 and subsequent years.

To calculate ELAP program benefits, an online tool is currently available to help producers document and estimate payments to cover feed transportation cost increases caused by drought and will soon be updated to assist producers with calculations associated with drought related costs incurred for hauling livestock to forage.

More Information

Additional USDA disaster assistance information can be found on farmers.gov, including USDA resources specifically for producer impacted by drought and wildfire and the Disaster Assistance Discovery Tool, Disaster-at-a-Glance fact sheet (PDF, 1.5 MB), and Farm Loan Discovery Tool. For FSA and Natural Resources Conservation Service programs, producers should contact their local USDA Service Center. For assistance with a crop insurance claim, producers and landowners should contact their crop insurance agent.

USDA extends emergency loans to producers in all Louisiana parishes recovering from droughts

Over the past two weeks, the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) issued several Stakeholder Notices for natural disaster declarations due to drought. These Secretarial natural disaster designations allow the USDA Farm Service Agency (FSA) to extend much-needed emergency credit to producers recovering from natural disasters through emergency loans. Emergency loans can be used to meet various recovery needs, including replacing essential items such as equipment or livestock, the reorganization of a farming operation, or the refinance of certain debts. FSA will review the loans based on the extent of losses, security available, and repayment ability.

"We urge every farmer to contact their local Farm Services Agency for program eligibility requirements," said the LDAF Commissioner Mike Strain, D.V.M. "The application deadline for assistance varies by notice, but they all fall in December."

Every Louisiana parish is covered as a primary disaster area or a contiguous parish. According to the U.S. Drought Monitor, these parishes suffered from a drought intensity value during the growing season of 1) D2 Drought-Severe for eight or more consecutive weeks or 2) D3 Drought-Extreme or D4 Drought-Exceptional.

To view the notices, visit USDA Designates 56 Louisiana Parishes as Primary Natural Disaster Areas and USDA Designates Two Louisiana Parishes as Primary Natural Disaster Areas.

To contact your local FSA office, visit USDA Service Center Locator.

Mississippi man arrested for Theft of Livestock in West Carroll Parish

A Mississippi man was arrested on April 14 by agents with the Mississippi Department of Agriculture in Copiah County, Mississippi. The arrest resulted from a warrant issued by West Carroll Parish regarding an investigation conducted by the Louisiana Department of Agriculture and Forestry's (LDAF) Livestock Brand Commission (LBC).

Thirty-four-year-old John Colter Pyron of Hazlehurst, MS, was arrested in Copiah County, MS, on a warrant for theft of livestock. The investigation led by the Livestock Brand Commission determined that Pyron received a horse from an owner in Louisiana and agreed to sell the horse on behalf of the owner for a set price in September of 2021. The investigation revealed that Pyron sold the horse to an individual in South Carolina but never made proper payment to the owner he was representing in the sale. The acquisition of the livestock and failure to render proper payment is a violation of R.S.14:67.1 (Theft of Livestock).

"Louisiana law is specific when dealing with the purchase of livestock and protects livestock owners from persons not complying with proper payment," said LDAF Commissioner Mike Strain, D.V.M. "When a suspect does not return the livestock or fails to pay for it, it becomes a crime and a violation of the theft of livestock statute."

The Livestock Brand Commission was assisted in this investigation by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and the West Carroll Parish Sheriff's Department.

At this time, Pyron has waived extradition and is booked in the West Carroll Parish Jail. A bond amount has been set at $5,000.00.

The Livestock Brand Commission maintains a 24-hour Crimestoppers hotline at (800) 558-9741 for the public to report thefts.

The Antique Tractor, Engine & Truck State Show was a success

The Louisiana Department of Agriculture and Forestry's Commissioner Mike Strain DVM had a great time at the International Harvesters - La Chapter 31's 20th Annual Antique Tractor, Engine & Truck State Show at the Washington Parish Fairgrounds in Franklinton.

He and his brother showcased their refurbished 1962 Cub Lo-Boy and admired all the others on display.

Ben's Ford Christian School's newly formed FFA class students were also in attendance. It was a great event.

USDA Announces Availability of Low-Interest Physical Loss Loans for Producers Affected by Severe Storms and Tornadoes

The USDA issued a Stakeholder Notification designating 9 Texas counties as primary eligibility areas for low-interest physical loss loans due to severe storms and tornadoes between March 21st and March 30th. Two Louisiana parishes, Caddo and De Soto, are eligible as contiguous areas.

Physical loss loans can help producers repair or replace damaged or destroyed physical property essential to the success of the agricultural operation, including livestock losses. Examples of property commonly affected include essential farm buildings, fixtures to real estate, equipment, livestock, perennial crops, fruit and nut bearing trees and harvested or stored crops and hay.

Triggering Disaster Event: Severe storms and tornadoes that occurred March 21, 2022, through March 30, 2022.

Application Deadline: Dec 12, 2022

NAAA Cautions Drones-UAs Not To Interfere With Low-Altitude Manned Ag Aircraft

As the nation enters the upcoming growing season, the National Agricultural Aviation Association (NAAA) is asking all drones-unmanned aircraft (UA) operators to be mindful of low-altitude manned agricultural aircraft operations.

Agricultural aviators treat 127 million acres of cropland in the United States each year and perform a variety of services that help farmers increase productivity and protect their crops.

“With Russia’s invasion of Ukraine restricting a huge portion of the world’s food supply, we cannot afford even a small disruption in the nation’s food supply chain,” NAAA CEO Andrew Moore said. “Agricultural aviators deliver nutrients, seeds and crop protection products to crops that will become consumers’ food and fiber supply in the U.S. and around the world.

“Their work cannot be delayed because of an unmanned aircraft not yielding to them, as is required by law. 2021 was a big year for aerial applicators, and we expect demand for aerial application services to be even higher in 2022.”

Agricultural aviators fly as low as 10 feet off the ground, meaning they share airspace with UAs that are restricted to flying no more than 400 feet above ground level. For this reason, NAAA urges UA operators to do everything they can to avoid ag aircraft doing important low-altitude work.

Recommendations For Drones-Unmanned Aircraft

NAAA recommends that unmanned aircraft operators:

Give the right of way to a manned aircraft. It’s the law.

Equip drones with tracking technology, such as ADS-B In, so you will know ADS-B Out-equipped manned aircraft positions.

Get certified and well-trained in operating an unmanned aircraft.

Contact local agricultural aviation operations before flying by consulting AgAviation.org/findapplicator.

Equip UAs with visible strobe lights and high visibility marking.

Land your unmanned aircraft immediately when a low-flying aircraft is nearby.

Carry UA liability insurance.

Compare Drone And Bird Collisions

Small UAs can be virtually invisible—and potentially lethal—to agricultural aviators, air ambulance helicopters, law enforcement and other low-flying manned aircraft operating in the same airspace.

In a test conducted by the Colorado Agricultural Aviation Association and other stakeholders, including manned and unmanned aircraft organizations, and the state of Colorado, no pilot operating a manned aircraft could continuously visually track a 28-inch-wide drone when flying at regular speeds.

While they might be spotted for a second, UAs are not constantly visible to pilots, meaning it is up to the drone operator to avoid a collision.

When birds hit an ag aircraft, they can break through an aircraft’s windshield, causing deadly accidents. A study conducted by the Alliance for System Safety of UAS through Research Excellence (ASSURE) showed UA collisions with aircraft cause more damage than a bird strike of comparable size would. This is due partially to unmanned aircraft’s dense motors and batteries, as opposed to a bird made mostly of water, feathers, hollow bones and sinew.

Please Be Responsible

At this moment when we’re all depending on the continued safe, affordable and abundant supply of food, fiber and bioenergy, don’t forget America’s agricultural aviators are working in the skies to help farmers produce their crops.

Manned ag aircraft are also flying at low altitudes to combat fires and conduct public health applications to eradicate disease-carrying mosquitoes and other deadly pests. If you’re going to fly an unmanned aircraft this summer, please be responsible and do everything you can to avoid agricultural aircraft.

legislations recommended that states establish individual aquaculture plans to coordinate state and federal efforts in aquaculture development.

Congress put into effect the final draft of the national plan in 1983. Today, USDA is the lead agency for aquaculture at the federal level, but the Department of Commerce, through its Sea Grant program, is also a major player in aquaculture research and extension. Coordination of aquaculture activities among various federal agencies occurs through the Joint Subcommittee on Aquaculture.

Today, the NOAA reports that Louisiana is already the nation's second-largest seafood supplier. The shrimp industry accounts for Louisiana seafood businesses are primarily comprised of intergenerational family businesses. Like Mr. Tillman, some can trace their family involvement in the seafood industry back four or five generations. Brud Tillman has been a commercial fisherman since he was 14 years old. He is a 4th generation commercial fisherman and has a passion for catching the finest and freshest Louisiana seafood.

Pride of occupation, self-reliance, and adaptation to adversity are central to the culture and heritage of Louisiana fishing families. Generations of Louisiana fishermen have weathered hurricanes that have destroyed entire coastal communities, as well as economic downturns that shuttered businesses

The crabs are caught, sorted, and distributed the same day ensuring consumers are getting the freshest Louisiana products.

15,000 jobs and an annual impact of $1.3 billion for Louisiana. Crabs from Louisiana generate an annual economic impact of $293 million and more than 3,000 jobs. The seafood industry in Louisiana has an economic impact of over $2.4 billion annually, and with the rise in demand worldwide, Louisiana's aquaculture industry has the potential to grow exponentially.

The state's seafood industry has a strong legacy of providing an incredible array of superior-quality seafood to restaurants and homes. For the dedicated fishermen who work Louisiana's waters, seeking out their catch is a craft that's been generations in the making. Most and forced community members to find work elsewhere. Fishing families have all faced these challenges in addition to the harsh, day-to-day conditions of living and working on the water. This long history of resilience and adaptation has been passed down through family storytelling and is the source of intense pride in their culture, sense of place, and occupation.

"These people are resilient. They are independent. They work hard. They want to build their lives here. They want to live here and raise their families here," said LDAF Commissioner Mike Strain, DVM. "My grandfather was a commercial crabber after he retired from the state police. I can remember him making us 'spider sandwiches.' Of course, that was just a nickname for a softshell crab po'boy. Visiting with the Tillmans brings back a lot of fond memories."

Louisiana's coastal seafood industry is complex. It is composed of harvesters, docks, processors, distributors, retailers, and restaurants that deal with four major categories of species: shrimp, crab, oysters, and finfish. You'll see many operations harvest, process, and/or distribute multiple species based on price, availability, and demand.

The industry struggles to survive devastating hurricanes, adapt to supply chain disruptions and the reduction in demand for seafood caused by the COVID-19 pandemic, as well as the increase in costs to run the businesses across the board.

"Hurricane Ida did a lot of damage here in Chauvin. We had a lot of fishermen who lost a lot of their crab traps. We had fishermen lose boats as well as their homes. We have a lot of fishermen just now getting back to work almost a year later," said Lisa Tillman. "The increase in costs has been really damaging as well. Fishermen are now looking at double the price on almost everything. A single crab trap is $45 before putting a cork or rope on it. Crab bait costs are up. Fuel costs are up. It's damaging to have all these increases when you are trying to recover from a disaster."

The industry also has to compete against increasing amounts of cheap foreign seafood imports. Despite Louisiana seafood being a premium, wild-caught, domestic product, it is often not treated as such due to packaging that fails to distinguish it from commodity competitors. This is where the Certified Program can help.

The Certified Louisiana logo program includes Certified Louisiana, Certified Cajun, Certified Creole, Certified Craft Beverage, and Certified Farm to Table. The logo program was established by the LDAF for the promotion of Louisiana-made, grown, manufactured, or processed products that are aimed at enhancing and promoting Louisiana's agricultural industry. The logo aids in marketing these products to consumers for farmers, processors, producers, and suppliers alike. With the recognition of the Certified logos, buyers can help support their local homegrown companies.

"Being Certified Louisiana is very valuable to us. When people see the logo, they know that our seafood is truly from us, not imported," said Lisa. "You know you are getting products straight from the waters of Louisiana right here from our local fishermen."

In order for a product to be eligible for inclusion in the Certified Louisiana logo program, the product must be made, grown, manufactured, processed, produced, or substantially transformed in the state of Louisiana. The LDAF has sole discretion to determine whether an agricultural product or agritourism activity is eligible to be labeled with one of the certified logos. In addition, a company must possess and be in compliance with all other applicable state and federal permits, licenses, and laws.

"This is as Certified Louisiana as you are going to get. All you've got to do is look in this boat to see how fresh these crabs are, and they'll be sorted and distributed today," remarked Commissioner Strain. "When you buy local and shop local, the dollars grow locally."

Crawfish Tales highlights what the Certified Program is all about...the wonderful people of Louisiana and the quality products they produce. The program also reminds us that when we shop Certified Louisiana, we are getting some of the most unique, flavorful ingredients in the world.

"When people come to Louisiana, they want a taste of Louisiana. This is it right here," noted Commissioner Strain.

SARDI set to host a Mental Health Forum on May 25

The Sustainable Agricultural Research and Development Institute (SARDI) will host a Mental Health Forum from 9:30 a.m. – 11 a.m. on May 24 at their location, 1209 Diesi Street, in Opelousas, La.

During the event, participants will join in a discussion on mental health as it pertains to the community.

To register for the free forum, click here.

May is Mental Health Awareness Month. Hospitals and mental health organizations observe this month as a time to raise awareness of those living with mental or behavioral health issues and to help reduce the stigma, provide support, educate the public, and advocate for policies that support people with mental illnesses and their families.

For additional information, contact Stacey Nevills, FCS/Extension Agent at stacey_nevills@suagcenter.com.

Farm Succession, Financial Management, and Disaster Preparedness.

Some of the most common mental health concerns include stress, depression, anxiety, and suicide. However, many other mood disorders and mental health conditions may affect farm and ranch families. It is imperative that you check in with yourself. As you check in on the farm, family, and friends, remember that caring for yourself is equally as important.

“Don’t forget that your physical health impacts your mental health. Be sure to take care of yourself physically to help lower stress,” said Commissioner Strain. “It’s equally as important to focus on the positives in your life as well. Take time out to foster the connections you have with loved ones. And always remember, it’s ok to ask for help. After all, we’re stronger together.”

In addition to LDAF’s Stay Rooted Louisiana, a wide variety of other farm-related organizations are developing resources to help farm families:

Farm Crisis Center - National Farmers Union - Identifies national and local resources for farmers, including information on mediation and natural disaster resources.

Farm Aid Resource Guide for Farm Crisis Support - Farm Aid - Identifies resources related to disaster response, legal needs, mental health, and more.

Farmer Resource Network Online Directory - Farm Aid - Directory of over 750 organizations that help farmers with crisis assistance, legal help, financial counseling, and more.

Farm State of Mind - American Farm Bureau Federation - Discusses the unique stressors associated with farming, warning signs of stress, steps to help someone at risk, and additional resources for individuals experiencing stress. This site also features a directory of rural mental health resources in every U.S. state and Puerto Rico.

Farm Town Strong American Farm Bureau Federation and the National Farmers Union - An initiative that provides resources about the opioid epidemic to farm families in need.

Mental Health Resources for Farmers and Ranchers - Successful Farming - A collection of articles focused on mental health, stress, depression, and suicide.

If you are in emotional distress or suicidal crisis and need help now, call 1-800-273-8255. You can dial or text 988 to speak to a trained counselor in some areas. 988 has been designated as the new three-digit dialing code that will route callers to the National Suicide Prevention Lifeline. While areas that can currently connect to the Lifeline by dialing 988 may be limited at this time, this dialing code will be available to everyone across the United States starting on July 16, 2022.

When people call, text, or chat 988, they will be connected to trained counselors that are part of the existing National Suicide Prevention Lifeline network. These trained counselors will listen, provide support, and connect them to resources if necessary.

The current Lifeline phone number (1-800-273-8255) will always remain available to people in emotional distress or suicidal crisis, even after 988 is launched nationally.

Louisiana Forestry Educators Tour

Teaching Sustainable Forestry in Environmental Education, the Louisiana Forestry Educators Tour is taking place May 25-27 in Pineville, La. You will meet experts from various natural resource fields during your stay. You will be provided an extraordinary look into forestry management, forest products production, and wildlife conservation. The tour includes visits to private and public forest lands, lumber, and other wood product mills. India Wood Species Inbound Mission to Maryland, Georgia & Louisiana

Maryland, Georgia & Louisiana
August 15-20, 2022

Logs dominate Indian imports, but the share of log imports has come down from 83 percent in 2007 to 48 percent in 2018. A favorable tariff structure has supported log imports, but the poor/inadequate level of processing by domestic sawmills has prompted the Indian trade to import higher volumes of lumber versus logs in recent years. The share of U.S. lumber in total exports to India has risen from 3 percent in 2007 to 42 percent in 2018. Imports of lumber were dominated by shipments of softwoods, mostly coniferous pine species of southern yellow pine, western yellow pine and Douglas fir. Limited domestic supplies, coupled with booming retail furniture, handicraft and hospitality sectors is driving demand for newer species. Still, India remains a long-term prospective market for U.S. forest products, specifically lumber and logs. SUSTA will be bringing key buyers from India to the south to meet with our Southern US Suppliers in Maryland, Georgia and Louisiana.

Participation Fee:

- $8.33 (One-on-one meetings/facility visits in Maryland on August 15th – August 16th)
- $8.33 (One-on-one meetings/facility visit in Georgia on August 17th – August 18th)
- $8.33 (One-on-one meetings/facility visit in Louisiana on August 19th – August 20th)
