La. Agriculture & Forestry Today

The Department of Agriculture and Forestry placed Central Louisiana Grain Cooperative, Inc. of Boyce into receivership Thursday afternoon, Agriculture and Forestry Commissioner Mike Strain, D.V.M., said today.

"The grain elevator is in receivership in order to facilitate continued contractual payments owed to farmers doing business with Central Louisiana Grain," Strain said. "We have staff on site reviewing contracts and gathering information. Our goal is to help farmers and others obtain the payments they are due for the commodities delivered."

Farmers and elevators sign contracts to buy and sell grain during a crop season. If the elevator is unable to pay the farmers, the department has the authority to place the elevator in receivership.

"The department is essentially conducting the day to day operations of the elevator to try to fulfill its obligations to the farmers," Strain explained. "It is unfortunate when this situation arises but we must do everything within our power to protect the farmers and all others involved and ensure they are paid."

Strain said additional details will be available when contracts and information available at the site have been reviewed and processed by department staff.

Groups release results of farming survey

Three-quarters of Louisianians have favorable opinions of farmers and farming in Louisiana, according to a recent statewide survey.

The scientific study conducted by Market Research Insight for the Louisiana Farm Bureau Federation and the LSU AgCenter showed a full 75 percent of those polled said they had favorable or very favorable opinions about farmers and farming in the state. Only 3 percent expressed unfavorable opinions, while 22 percent had either neutral opinions or expressed no opinion when asked, "Do you have a favorable or unfavorable opinion of farmers and farming in Louisiana?"

Generally, most responses to questions in the survey were favorable toward agriculture and reflected that Louisianians seem to possess a good body of knowledge about the current state of affairs for the industry.

For example, 60 percent of the respondents already knew that one of every five jobs in the United States is related to agriculture, and a whopping 92 percent disagreed that farmers earn too much money.

"It's good to see that so many people look upon farmers and farming in a favorable light," said Louisiana Farm Bureau President Ronnie Anderson. "That speaks highly of the men and women involved in agriculture in Louisiana."

As for their knowledge about Louisiana's agriculture and natural resource industries, 71 percent of those responding to the survey knew animals can be a valuable source of medical products, 78 percent already knew Louisiana farmers participate in voluntary programs that support environmental quality and conservation and 79 percent knew farming and wildlife can coexist in the same geographic area.

Despite several demonstrations of the extensive public knowledge of the facts about Louisiana's industry, however, the survey didn't show the state's populace has all-encompassing knowledge. One example came when less than half of those questioned said they were aware forestry is the state's largest industry based on agriculture and natural resources.

The forestry and wood products sector is indeed the state's largest agricultural industry – contributing more than $4.2 billion to Louisiana's economy in 2007, according to the soon-to-be-published 2007 Louisiana Summary of Agriculture and Natural Resources from the LSU AgCenter. That sector is part of the overall agriculture and natural resources industries that meant nearly $10.9 billion to the state last year, with other leaders including poultry, feed grains, sugarcane, horses, marine fisheries, cattle, rice, aquaculture (catfish, crawfish, etc.), cotton and soybeans.

"Although this survey has shown people know a lot about Louisiana agriculture, it also shows that we still have some work to do," said Dr. Paul Coreil, vice chancellor and director of extension for the LSU AgCenter. "We definitely need to continue our work of educating the public about where their food and fiber come from, as well as what agriculture means to the state's economy."

The 500 respondents to the survey, which was conducted between Feb. 12 and Feb. 15, were from across the state. All were 18 years old or older, and they were relatively equally distributed geographically – 32 percent from Acadiana, 24 percent from the Florida Parishes, 26 percent from the northern parishes and 18 percent from Orleans Parish/New Orleans metro area.

Among the other results from the survey were:

– 77 percent of those surveyed realized the use of pesticides had increased the yields of crops, and 74 percent knew biotechnology has increased the pest resistance of plants.

– 74 percent of the respondents agreed that agriculture is a large employer in Louisiana.

– Most of those surveyed (68 percent) agreed that pesticides can be used safely when producing food, and nearly that many (60 percent) disagreed that only organic methods should be used to produce food. About 66 percent also disagreed that agricultural practices in Louisiana are harmful to the environment.

– 81 percent of those polled agreed farm grains are becoming an important energy source in the United States, but only 32 percent said a strong agricultural industry is more important than a strong military.

Of those polled, 41 percent were college graduates. About 25 percent said they had "some college" but no degree. Those who had not completed high school made up 8 percent of the respondents, and 26 percent of those surveyed had not gone beyond high school graduation.

Market Research Insight, which conducted this survey, is based in Gulf Breeze, Fla., and is one of the nation's leading market research firms. The company is well known for accurate and insightful analysis that produces winning strategies for business, industry and political campaigns, and its officials say it leads the industry through satisfied clients, accurate results and innovative technologies.

The Louisiana Farm Bureau Federation is the state's largest organization representing farmers and ranchers. It is a private, nonprofit, non-governmental agency established in 1922 to bring a voice to agricultural issues.

The LSU AgCenter is the state's only educational institution dedicated solely to research and outreach on day-to-day matters that affect people's living standards. A campus of the LSU System, it provides individuals, families, businesses, industries and local governments with valuable information to improve economic conditions and quality of life.

Choose Chicken

for dinner tonight

Poultry is Louisiana's most valuable livestock industry with an economic impact of nearly $1.4 billion. When planning your next dinner, why not choose chicken?

Chicken Roll-Ups

- 3 boiled chicken breasts
- 1 can cream of chicken soup
- Grated cheddar cheese
- 1 can crescent rolls

Heat soup in boiler. Tear chicken into small pieces. Unroll crescent rolls and separate. Place chicken and cheese inside roll and roll up. With remaining cheese, chicken and soup, cover rolls. Bake at 350 degrees until rolls are done.

Creamy Chicken Chowder

- | | |
|---------------------------------|------------------------|
| 4 to 5 boneless chicken breasts | 1 to 2 cups milk |
| 1 can chopped green chilies | 1 small onion, chopped |
| 1 can Mexi corn | 2 stalks celery |
| 1 can cream of chicken soup | Salt & pepper to taste |
| 1/2 block mild Mexican Velveeta | |

Boil chicken with onion, celery, and salt & pepper; cook until tender. Remove chicken and chop. Add soup, chilies and corn. Add 1 to 2 cups milk and Velveeta. Add chicken and simmer 30 to 45 minutes on medium-low heat.

Broiled Chicken Slices

- 1/2 cup cider vinegar
- 1/4 cup soy sauce
- 4 garlic cloves, minced
- 1 lb. boneless, skinless chicken breasts (cut into 1-inch slices)
- Hot cooked rice (optional)

In a heavy-duty resealable plastic bag, combine vinegar, soy sauce and garlic. Add chicken; turn to coat. Seal and refrigerate for 15 minutes. Drain and discard marinade. Broil chicken 4 inches from heat for 10 to 12 minutes, turning frequently. Serve over rice.

Grilled Chicken w/Peach Sauce

- | | |
|---------------------|---|
| 1 cup sugar | 2 tbsps. peach gelatin powder |
| 2 tbsps. cornstarch | 1 med. fresh peach, peeled & finely chopped |
| 1 cup water | 4 boneless, skinless chicken breast halves |

In a saucepan, combine sugar, cornstarch and water until smooth. Bring to a boil over medium heat; cook and stir for 2 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in gelatin and peach; mix well. Set aside 1 cup for serving. Grill chicken, uncovered, over medium heat for 3 minutes on each side. Baste with some of the remaining peach sauce. Continue grilling for 6 to 8 minutes or until juices run clear, basting and turning several times. Serve with reserved peach sauce.

Skillet Luau

- | | |
|-----------------------------|---------------------------|
| 1/2 small, green bellpepper | 1/3 to 1/2 cup water |
| 1/2 small onion | 1 1/2 cups cooked chicken |
| 2 tbsps. margarine | 1/2 cup pineapple tidbits |
| 1 can cream of chicken soup | Hot cooked rice |

Saute bellpepper and onion in margarine until tender. Add the next four ingredients; simmer 20 to 25 minutes over low heat, stirring occasionally. Serve over rice.

Chicken with Onion Sauce

- 1 cut up chicken (fryer size)
- 1 container of cottage cheese
- 1 package dry onion soup mix

Mix together with fork in rectangular baking dish the cheese and onion. Lay cut up pieces of chicken on top of mixture. Bake, uncovered, at 350 degrees for about one hour until brown on top and fork tender. Put chicken in deep dish platter and pour sauce over. Serve with rice.

Sweet Potato Commission sponsors recipe contest

The Louisiana Sweet Potato Commission, along with Louisiana Cookin' magazine, invites all cooks, amateur and professional, to open up a can of sweet potatoes and showcase their culinary creativity with one of the most nutritious and versatile vegetables around.

The Commission is hosting its fourth annual Sweet Rewards Recipe Contest for Canned Louisiana Sweet Potatoes, and will be including a brand new professional category.

Interested cooks can enter an original yam recipe in one of four amateur categories, including breads and breakfast, desserts, sides and soups, or in the brand new professional category. In order to qualify for the professional category, the contestant must be a professional chef or work full time in the food service industry. Multiple entries from one individual will be accepted. There is no entry fee.

The contest began Jan. 15 and will continue through June 1. One overall grand prize winner will be selected from the four amateur categories and will be awarded $1,000.00. One additional winner from each of the five categories will receive $500.00.

Last year, the $1,000 prize was awarded to Sally Sibthroe of Shelby Township, Mich., for her Iced Sweet Potato Gazpacho recipe. In the soups category, Penelope Malcolm from Americus, Ga., won for her Crawfish Sweet Potato Chowder with Roasted Chilies recipe. Margee Berry of Trout Lake, Wash., took first place in the desserts category for her Isle Style Sweet Potato Sundaes with Hot Butter Rum Sauce recipe. For breads and breakfast, the winner was Terese Ralston of New Albany, Ohio, for her Louisiana Sweet Potato French Toast with Brown Sugar Bananas.

In the sides category, the winning recipe was Chicken and Sweet Potato Pastry entered by Wayne A. Hargrove of Sanford, N.C.

Finalists' recipes will be prepared by culinary students at Delgado Community College in New Orleans and judged by an independent panel of food industry professionals. Prize winners will be determined based on overall flavor, visual appeal and creativity. Judges' decisions will be final.

The Louisiana Sweet Potato Commission will attempt to notify all potential winners by phone or by e-mail by July 15. Winners and their recipes will be posted on the Louisiana Sweet Potato Commission Web site and will also be featured in an issue of Louisiana Cookin' magazine.

Those interested in submitting a recipe can log on to Louisiana Cookin' magazine's Web site at www.louisiana-cookin.com. Click on the Sweet Rewards Recipe Contest icon. Entries can also be submitted by printing an entry form from the Web site and mailing it to Louisiana Cookin' magazine at P.O. Box 19084, New Orleans, La 70179.

Louisiana Cookin' is the only magazine devoted solely to Louisiana's love of good food. Each issue is filled with information on delicious foods, authentic recipes, unique cooking styles, famous restaurants and fantastic cookbooks.

Along with the Louisiana Sweet Potato Commission and Louisiana Cookin' magazine, the Sweet Rewards Recipe Contest for Canned Sweet Potatoes is being co-sponsored by Allen Canning, Bruce Foods, Nomenu.com and Delgado Community College Culinary Arts Program.

AgCenter announces dates, times for field days

The LSU AgCenter's annual wheat and oat field day will be held April 17 at the Macon Ridge Research Station in Winnsboro.

The program, which begins at 8:30 a.m., will include an update on the current wheat situation followed by presentations on weed control and wheat and oat fertilization.

Field tours begin at 10 a.m. Lunch will be provided following the field tours.

Co-sponsors of the event include AgriPro-Coker, AgSouth Genetics, Arkansas County Seed, Croplan Genetics, Terral Seed, UniSouth Genetics and Louisiana Land Bank.

For more information, call 318-435-2157. The research station is located off Louisiana Highway 15 south of Winnsboro.

Hill Farm Research Station's annual field day for beef, poultry, dairy, forage and forestry producers will be held April 24.

Registration and exhibits by agribusiness companies begin at 11 a.m. followed by a 1 p.m. program.

As part of the program, Jack Dillard, agricultural columnist with The (Shreveport) Times, will present "Changing Agriculture in North Louisiana and Evolving Programs at the Hill Farm Research Station to Support the Region's Agriculture."

From 1:30 p.m. to 5 p.m., researchers will present information.

For more information, call 318-927-2578. The Hill Farm Research Station is located south of Homer at the junction of U.S. Hwy. 79 and La. Hwy. 9.

Ginner of the Year

Randy Ainsworth of Frogmore was named 2008 Ginner of the Year by the Southern Cotton Ginners Association. Ainsworth is the manager of Tanner Gin. Tim Price, executive vice president of the Southern Cotton Ginners Association, said Ainsworth was chosen because of "the great things he's done at Tanner Gin in a year of challenge and adjustments in the cotton industry."

Ainsworth is active in his community and volunteers for many sports-related activities. He and his wife, Jami, are members of Vidalia Baptist Church. They have two children Cameron and Cari.

Top farmer finalists
